WOMEN FIGHT FOR NURSES' RIGHTS

Female Solons Score Committee Victory at Columbus

TO HANDLE ANAESTHETICS

Effort to Restrict to Doctors is Defeated

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — The two women members of the state senate—Mrs. Nettie B. Loughhead of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Maud C. Waitt, of Cleveland, today took action which was expected to reserve for nurses the right to administer anaesthetics in Ohio.

After a hearing before the public health committee of the senate on the bill of Senator Krumler, Republican of Preble-co, which proposed that the right of giving anaesthetics be restricted to doctors and taken away from registered nurses, Mrs. Waitt moved that consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed. Mrs. Loughhead seconded the motion which was passed by a vote of three to two.

Miss Mary Jamieson, chairman of the legislative committee of the State Association of Graduate Nurses previously had declared that advocacy of the measure was a "distinct financial affair with the doctors." Nurses were fully capable of giving anaesthetics she said. She declared doctors who favored the legislation "wanted the fees themselves."

Support for the measure came from Dr. J. H. Usher, representing the Ohio Medical Association, who declared permitting nurses to administer anaesthesia was an emergency war measure. Dr. Harry S. Davidson of Akron, a member of the house of representatives, said that the permission of nurses to act as anaesthetists would tend to break down the barriers between the nursing profession and practicing physicians.

Among those who appeared for the nurses were Dr. A. B. Denison of Lakeside hospital, Cleveland and Dr. F. Ranz of Youngstown. Both said nurses were fully capable of doing the work and that the privilege should be retained for them.

BUSY DAY FOR SOLONS
Both houses of the state legislature faced what was expected to be the busiest day of the session today. Starting early with committee consideration of various measures, the house and senate alike were to hold afternoon sessions in an attempt to dispose of numerous bills and resolutions ready for passage, and to continue committee work late tonight with several important measures to be discussed.

The senate, occupying itself with minor matters expected to pass a bill for the license measure and take action on the Burke resolution proposing that the president call an international economic conference and this afternoon and tonight take up their labor committee the minimum wage bill of Senator Burke.

HARDING POLICY INDORSSED

The house yesterday adopted a resolution of Representative Herbert Republican, Franklin-co, endorsing the foreign policy of President Harding and pledging to carry out his state and foreign policy. A similar resolution was expected to be introduced in the senate in opposition to that of Senator Burke which would call upon the president to assemble the conference "to have the United States take the lead in the solution of European problems. Several resolutions have been introduced and it is expected that the proposal sent to a committee and prevent its immediate consideration on the floor of the senate.

The bill of Representative Harding of Warren-co, intended to require the Ku Klux Klan to file lists of officers and members with prohibition laws, the "padlock" bill and that of Senator Bender, already passed by the senate—also were on the calendar but were expected to be reached during the day.

DAY BILL UP TONIGHT

The house was to complete its day's work with a public hearing on the tax bill before the taxation committee tonight. Representative Taff of Cincinnati, author of the bill and chairman of the committee, has announced he hopes to complete public hearings tonight and have his measure ready to report about the first of the month. In its brief session yesterday, the house went on record as favoring a corporation of the issuance of tax-free bonds and securities. A resolution by Representative Humes, Republican of Delaware-co, endorsing the action of the lower house of congress in adopting a resolution providing for submission of a constitutional amendment prohibiting the placing of more than one person in the United States senate to follow suit, was adopted 61 to 15. It now goes to the senate.

Among bills introduced yesterday was a measure proposed by the American Legion and presented to both houses, which would provide for a program of physical education in the public schools. Two new election bills also found their way into the hoppers. One by Representative Davidson, Republican of Summit-co, would provide for permanent registration of voters for a program of annual registration now required after January 1, 1924. The other by Senator Burke, would allow voters to "initiate" planks for the party platform and ratify them at primary elections providing the signatures of three per cent of the voters of any party were obtained for petitions and filed with the secretary of state forty days before the primaries.

DEATH, DISEASE IN LIQUOR Moonshine Not Fit To Drink, Declares Chemist

With poison liquor taking a heavy toll in death, blindness and disease thruout the country and federal and state officials uniting for a concerted drive against manufacturers and peddlers of illicit booze, The Lima News has made an investigation to determine what conditions are in Lima.

This survey, facts coming from authorities and officials in direct touch with the situation, shows one startling and undeniable condition—that concoctions being sold are rapidly growing worse and that the bad effect on drinkers is in direct ratio to the decreasing quality of the moonshine.

Another startling fact is that practically all whisky that has come in for chemical analysis in the last year contains more or less poison and that none of it is real whisky that had been aged.

In this connection, The News obtained from John R. Cuthbert, chemist, 14 Domestic-bldg, data covering the last year. Cuthbert does a big commercial business and estimates he has analyzed approximately 500 samples of liquor in the last year.

He has noticed a steady decline in the quality of the samples brought to him during the last few months and says that reaching his laboratory in the last month has been particularly bad. Traces of wood alcohol appear with greater regularity, he says, and in a more marked degree.

Cuthbert says a large part of the liquor he has analyzed recently appears to have been manufactured from rectified alcohol —that is grain alcohol to which some accepted poison has been added in conformity with the law and which has been "doctored" to remove the poison. It is impossible to remove all substances used in denaturing grain alcohol.

Not only is the ordinary liquor, the product of illicit stills, which offers no pretentious appearance fraught with danger for the consumer, but Cuthbert discussed samples of what appeared to be bonded goods, bearing what looked like genuine government bond and revenue stamps, which he examined and found to contain a big percentage of wood alcohol.

Cuthbert said much of the liquor containing wood alcohol did not have a sufficient amount of this poison to produce death or immediate blindness, but that continued use of the stuff would certainly have serious effects on drinkers.

"BUGS" THAT INFEST YOUR HOME BREW

Here is a news item bearing on the manufacture of home-brew and which shows the danger in this kind of liquor:
"A hundred home-brewers have sent samples of their cellar hooch to W. G. Brown, prohibition commissioner in West Virginia, for analysis. Brown reports that most of the samples were absolutely dangerous for human consumption. Many of them contained the deadly bacillus botulinus, which causes botulism poisoning, more deadly than ptomaine."

DR. LEHR'S DEATH WIDELY MOURNED

Letters, Telegrams of Condolence Are Received

NOTABLES AT OBSEQUIES

Final Services for Ada Educator, Wednesday

Hundreds of telegrams and letters of condolence are being received at the Lehr home in Ada, since the death of Dr. H. S. Lehr, president emeritus of Ohio Northern university, which occurred Sunday. They are from former students of the institution which Dr. Lehr served since 1866 and from notables all over the country.

The body is at the family residence, in Lehr-av, but will be removed to the university auditorium Wednesday morning, where it will lie in state until the time of the funeral services, which will begin at 1 p. m., Wednesday.

Rev. D. H. Wetmore, of Canton, will be in charge of the obsequies. Rev. Dr. Edwin Smith, president of Ada university, will deliver the invocation. The Scripture lesson will be read by Rev. L. O. Mink of the Ada Disciple church. The obituary will be read by Rev. A. Slack, of the Ada Presbyterian church.

Miss Lucille Russell will have charge of the music program and Prof. Fred Killin and A. Harrod of the college, will sing. Before his death Dr. Lehr requested his wife and daughter that the hymns "God Be Merciful" and "When All Our Labors and Toils are Over," be sung at his funeral.

Delegates of the G. A. R. and the Masonic fraternities, with which Dr. Lehr was affiliated in life, will attend the obsequies.

The pall bearers chosen are residents of Ada and close personal friends of the deceased. They are: Jack Hares, Louis Greer, Prof. R. R. Runser, J. McCoppen, Daniel Welsh and Barton Snyder. TRIBUTE BY LIMA MAN
Prof. John Davidson of Lima, a member of the college faculty spoke in chapel Tuesday morning on the life and works of Dr. Lehr. Before his physical body broke down, Dr. Lehr was engaged in educational research work.

Among the notables, former students of the university, who are expected to attend the obsequies are: United States Senator Frank B. Willis; Timothy S. Hogan, former attorney general of Ohio; J. W. Homer, former assistant secretary of state; Ralph D. Cole, ex-congressman; Charles Sweeney, ex-speaker of the house of representatives; Columbus; Charles Chittenden, judge of the court of appeals at Toledo; J. L. Newhouse, supreme court judge in Oklahoma; R. M. Wana-maker and E. S. Matthias, Ohio supreme court judges; R. Clint Cole, congressman; Judge George W. Toland, Springfield; W. S. O'Hara, Toledo; Earl D. Bloom, lieutenant governor; Judge George P. Baer, Cleveland.

Following final services, the body of Dr. Lehr will be interred in Woodlawn cemetery, Ada.

CLEVELAND MAN SHOT BY POLICE FLYING SQUADRON

CLEVELAND—Peter J. McClain, 27, was shot and probably fatally wounded early today, by members of a police flying squadron. The police had surrounded his home while attempting to serve a warrant on him.

Four officers ran in pursuit when he started to escape firing as they ran. McClain fell after running a quarter of a mile. The bullet pierced his back.

The man is alleged to have offered to sell lots for owners while working for a real estate firm. Money obtained for expenses was alleged to have been misapplied.

DEBT PLAN UP TO BRITISH CABINET

Ministers Meet to Hear Report From America

LONDON — (Associated Press) — The British cabinet is not enjoying that tranquility which Premier Bonar Law prescribed for the country upon taking office. As the ministers met today, to consider Stanley Baldwin's report on his American mission it was under the shadow of a Near East war cloud and the unifying glow of the Ruhr situation.

The two latter subjects will engage the attention of the cabinet in part, but the primary purpose of the meeting was to deal with Great Britain's debt to the United States. Some of the cabinet members are credited with the opinion that it would be better to continue paying five per cent interest on the debt as it now stands, relying on the hope that better terms can be arranged in the near future.

Mr. Baldwin in an interview with the Daily Mail regarding the effect of his Southampton interview in the United States said he was sure that if the whole statement had been read in the United States no exception would have been taken to it.

The financial circles of London, according to the best informed writers, largely incline toward acceptance of the American commission's terms, altho some would stipulate that at the end of a decade monetary conditions improved in Great Britain's favor, this country would be allowed the full benefit of that change in a revision of terms.

Some financiers, however, favor immediate acceptance, contending that the difference of four or five million pounds sterling between what Mr. Baldwin tried to get and what America offered, is too small to haggle over at the risk of disturbing the good relations between Great Britain and the United States.

PRIEST HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

Servant in Parish House at Erie, Pa., is Murdered

SHOT 3 TIMES THRU HEART

Pastor Made Prisoner While Killing is Probed

ERIE, Pa. — (Associated Press) — Sophie Szymanski, a servant in the parish house of St. Casimir's Polish Catholic church, was shot and killed as she approached the building in company with Mary Wojewick, the housekeeper, last midnight, and Rev. Father Dambinski is being held in the police station awaiting the result of an investigation. The girl was shot three times thru the heart.

Father Dambinski was taken into custody shortly after the shooting. The police say they found him in bed and that while he at first was unable to give a clear version of the shooting, he afterwards told them the girl had been killed by accident.

THREE SHOTS FIRED
According to the housekeeper, she and her assistant returning to the house shortly after midnight found the front door wide open. They entered the darkened hallway and saw the form of a man moving toward them from the nearest room. She screamed "burglars" and ran to the porch. Immediately she said three shots were fired.

PAYMENT MADE IN ABSENT VOTING

Witness Admits Receiving Money in Pike-co Election Case

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — After hearing considerable doubt, alleged abuse of the absent voter law in Pike-co during the last November election, the special committee of the house of representatives which is considering the contest by Harry L. Foster, Republican, for the seat of Representative Robert S. Wynn, Democrat, the committee yesterday adjourned until February 13. On reconvening, the committee expects to delve into the official records of the Pike-co election board, especially as they bear upon activities under the absent voters law.

At the hearing yesterday afternoon, two witnesses testified that money had been passed in connection with voting absent voters ballots. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moss of Chillicothe, former residents of Pike-co testified each had received $5. Mr. Moss said he had been given the money for his time" after voting an absent voters ballot for three Pike-co men who came to his home, and that they also gave him $5 for his wife Mrs. Moss testified that she had received the $5 from her husband. "Hookie" Dowlie of Waverly, they said was one of the three men who came to their home. Charles P. Gablem, of Waverly, who was a member of the Democratic county executive committee, identified Dowlie as chauffeur for the committee.

Andrew J. Hawke of Ross-co, also testified that Dowlie and another man had told him they would give him "twenty" if he would vote an absent voters ballot for Pike-co. He said he refused on the ground that he did not think he was entitled to a vote in Pike county.

SISTER IN ROLE OF AVENGER

Anna Logue, shown here, is the sister of Grace Logue, for whose death Dr. Michael M. Stevens of Woburn, Mass., is on trial charged with manslaughter. It was Anna Logue who demanded exhumation of her sister's body and forced authorities to take action against the physician.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST LYNCHING IS PLANNED

WASHINGTON — A nation-wide campaign against lynching will be undertaken by the Federal Council of Churches, representing nearly all the Protestant denominations, it was announced here today.

The movement will be inaugurated with special services on February 11—the Sunday before Lincoln's birthday.

MAN SHOTS WIFE

Couldn't Give Her Up, He Tells Authorities

AKRON — (United Press) — "I did it. I did it. I shot her because I loved her and could not bear to see another man take her from me."

That was the explanation today of George Sherlin, 30, who yesterday shot and killed his estranged wife, Josephine.

The shooting took place in a bedroom at the home of her sister-in-law, where Sherlin had met his wife and two small children, hoping, he told police, to effect a reconciliation.

Josephine left me two months ago in Elbert, W. Va," Sherlin said. "When she refused to return to me today, I killed her. That is all."

After the shooting Sherlin walked quietly out of the bedroom and called police.

BOUGHT FOR MURDER
COLUMBUS — Columbus police today were holding John R. Rathenly, 36, of McCall, Ky., where he is said to be wanted for murder. According to the story told by Rathenly, he killed his father-in-law, N. T. King, December 12 in a fight over domestic troubles.

ATTEMPT MADE TO KILL WEYGAND

Wreck of General's Train Narrowly Averted

ON WAY TO DUESSELDORF

Customs Ring Around Ruhr Planned by Invaders

DUESSELDORF — (Associated Press) — The German telegraph operators who have been on strike here, resumed work at 11 o'clock this morning, the French agreeing to withdraw their soldiers from the operating rooms and post them outside.

DUESSELDORF — (Associated Press) — An attempt to wreck the train on which General Weygand and Minister of Public Work Le Troquer, were traveling to Duesseldorf from Paris is reported to have occurred at Dueren last evening. Other incidents of sabotage, such as the wrecking of signal boxes on the Ruhr railroads, have also come to the attention of the occupation officials.

The train on which the general and minister were passengers, was halted in time to avert striking an obstruction placed across the track. German trainmen at Dueren assert that the incident was unintentional.

General Weygand and M. Le Troquer had a long conference last evening with General Degoutte, M. Coste and other occupation officials and later the minister left for Brussels to ask the Belgian government's approval of the decision reached. The greatest secrecy was maintained as to the results of the conference but the indications point to the establishment of a customs ring around the occupied Ruhr valley and the complete stoppage of coal shipments into the interior of Germany. It is believed that these measures will be put into effect on February 1.

MORE EXPELLED

Customs officials have been stationed at Duesseldorf and Essen for several days have received orders to proceed to the frontier of the occupied territory at the point of entering Germany. They have also been ordered to the locks and canals on the rivers Lippe and Rhine.

The arrests and expulsions of German officials have not yet been completed.

More expulsions are expected for Essen while the cities of Dortmund, Bochum, Gelsenkirchen, Duisburg, Hamm and Ruhrort will be centralized in the same manner in proportion to their size.

The telephone strike is not quite as effective as the telegraph tie-up. Postal service with the outside world is at a standstill.

The gas and electrical workers by a vote of 2 to 1, have decided not to strike.

The miners continue to turn out about two-thirds of the normal production of coal, but the stoppage of the railroad traffic and the scheduled empty cars are causing congestion at the pit heads and it is thought that the mines must close in a few days unless some remedy is found.

FRENCH WARNING SOUNDED

LONDON — (Associated Press) — General Degoutte, in a statement to the press at Duesseldorf this morning sounded the warning, according to the Evening News correspondent, that "they are mistaken to think our patience has no limits" and added that the allies occupying the Ruhr "will carry out their plans and will

POLICEMEN LOSE FIGHT FOR JOBS

State Supreme Court Passes on Youngstown Cases

25 DROPPED FROM FORCE

Ordinance Abolishing Positions Attacked—Liquor Case Up

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Twenty-five Youngstown policemen who lost their jobs through reorganization of the police department by Safety Director Hamilton under a city ordinance, lost their fight for reinstatement in the state supreme court today. The court refused to consider their appeal, the lower courts having sustained the action of the safety director.

In reorganizing the police department, the city council repealed the ordinance which provided for 141 patrolmen, and re-enacted a similar ordinance providing for only 116 patrolmen. The safety director called on the civil service commission for a list of eligibles to supply the 116 positions and the commission submitted the entire old list of 141. As only 116 could be appointed under the ordinance, 25 patrolmen were thus left out permanently.

Headed by John W. Bowden, the 25 patrolmen appealed to the court for reinstatement, attacking validity of the ordinance. They lost in all the courts.

LIQUOR CASE UP

The state supreme court today decided to hear appeals from sentences meted out under liquor ordinances of Youngstown and Struthers in which constitutional rights of the ordinance were questioned because, it is alleged, they impose more severe penalties than provided for either by the Crabbie or the Volstead acts.

The appeals were brought into the court by the two cities mentioned in cases where George Sokel had been convicted under the Struthers ordinance and John Stedala under the Youngstown ordinance. On appeal in the lower courts, the two ordinances had been held unconstitutional.

DELPHOS SERVER PLANS FURTHER IMPROVEMENT OF ENTRANCES TO CITY

Market road approaches to Delphos are being improved in the worst condition in the history of the city, unless means are adopted to improve them, according to Service Director Ed Spellman, who is planning to have them repaved.

Assistance of county commissioners will be sought in the improvement. In 1922 Spellman had council pass a resolution asking Van Wert county commissioners to improve approaches to State, Elm and Ohio streets. It was acted upon, according to Spellman. He plans to have other approaches improved in the same manner.

Variable weather this winter has been detrimental to all roads and many streets in and near Delphos. Alternate freezing and thawing has converted them into veritable quagmires, according to the service director.

A stretch of 800 feet between the end of the Lincoln highway and W. Fifth-st will be completely repaved and a thorn that has been sticking in the sides of motorists for several years. Putnam Bros. contractors on the Harding highway, which took the work, but were forced to suspend operations temporarily. The work will be resumed soon.

DUPLICATE RECORDS OF STATE BOARDS FOUND

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — State Auditor Tracey today found in his office duplicates of the now famous missing records of the state emergency and control boards demanded from former state Finance Director W. Albert Davis by Governor Donahoe.

"So far as I can find, these records are complete of both boards," Tracey said.

The records are to be turned over to Finance Director Baker today.

MISS ROSSELLT CONTINUES AS LIBRARIAN AT DELPHOS

Miss Marie Rosselt has again been chosen librarian of the Delphos Public Library, according to announcement Tuesday by Superintendent H. R. Eick, president of the library board. Miss Rosselt was again selected as custodian.

Annual report of Miss Rosselt, covering library activities for 1923, has been prepared.

WHISKY MISSING

CINCINNATI — The grand jury will be asked to investigate what has become of 58 bottles of whiskey said to be missing from a total of 180 bottles, which was in the custody of North Bend, Ohio, officials, Paul V. Connolly, an attorney, representing the owner of the liquor, announced today.

SAFE ROBBERED

TOLEDO — Cracksmen knocked the combination from the safe in the offices of the Gasoline Coal Company here early today and escaped with $600 according to a report to police. This is the fourth time within the last year that this same safe has been entered.

ORDER MODIFIED

An order issued by Probation Officer Frank Chapman, that all boys under 18 years of age were to be prohibited from working in pool rooms or bowling alleys, was modified Tuesday by Chapman, allowing boys over 15 years of age to work in bowling alleys. This new order does not apply to pool rooms.

"PLAY SAFE" CAMPAIGN IN DELPHOS CUTS FIRE LOSSES TO LOW FIGURE

A "Play Safe" campaign in Delphos is already getting results. Not a single penny of loss has been incurred in the city from fire so far during January, according to report by Fire Chief Frank Grothouse.

There was only one call—at the home of Mrs. John Harley, Third-st., when a handful of leaves in an eaves trough was fired by a spark.

Record of the month is in striking contrast to that of January 1922, according to Grothouse's records. Six alarms were received and the total loss for the month was $692.

Grothouse is carrying out a fire prevention program thru the schools. Literature received from State Fire Marshal H. D. Dykeman calls attention to the fact that 85 per cent of Ohio fires and 91 per cent of Ohio fire casualties are needless and the result of carelessness or careless conditions.

TRUBEY PROBE IS HALTED FOR DAY

Committee of Three Will Resume Work Wednesday

Members of the committee of three, appointed by Judge Fred C. Becker to investigate and prosecute charges against R. R. Trubey, did not meet Tuesday. It was learned.

After adjourning Monday, it was decided by Chairman J. W. Loring, worth not to call another meeting until Wednesday.

Under authority of the court, the committee has power to subpoena and swear witnesses, command the producing of records and papers and carry on a probe with all the power of a court.

An investigator paid from county funds will be at the committee's command to push the probe, by obtaining evidence. A record of all sessions is taken in shorthand.

At the conclusion of the committee's labors, a report of findings will be prepared and submitted to the court.

TORTURE CHARGED

Captain on Trial, Accused of Murder at Sea

NEW YORK — (United Press) — George H. Miles, former captain of the shipping board steamer President Van Buren, on trial here today on a charge of murder, was accused by witnesses testifying against him.

A. J. McDonald, boatwain's mate, declared Miles beat H. C. Baxter, pantry man, and caused the latter to be put in chains with food just out of his reach. Miles accused Baxter of signing illness to avoid work, the witness said.

Baxter died.

TOLERANCE IS URGED BY REV. CLARK IN ADDRESS AT KIWANIAN LUNCHEON

Tolerance is consideration for the feelings and opinions of others. Father James Clark told the members of the Kiwanian club at their regular luncheon today.

"In other words," he said, "to be tolerant means to give the other man a square deal," he said in outlining how the principle enters into the everyday affairs of life.

"We cannot always be right in our opinions, but if we have the least of tolerance within us we can at least be just and fair in our treatment of the opinions of others," he added.

Much of the present day infidelity in the home and its despotism by wantons would be stopped short if the husband and wife were more tolerant towards each other, Father Clark asserted.

Announcement was made of the death of Colonel J. L. McCullough, an "at" national figure in Kiwanian. Austin Potter, Wallace Landis and Dr. E. J. Curley were appointed to prepare resolutions of respect.

Violet Lewis, instructor of music in the public schools, sang several solos. Announcement was also made regarding plans for the concert by the Rhondas Royal Male chorus from Wales to be held here February 13, in Memorial Hall.

FINE FOR DRUNKENNESS; AUTO CHARGE DISMISSED

Arthur M. Farland, 24, of 137 E. Findlay-st, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk, when arraigned in police court Tuesday morning. He paid a fine of $16.

Raleigh Thompson, 24, R. D. 7, told Judge Emmet Jackson someone sold him a car without a muffler, when he was arraigned on a charge of driving with out-out open. Case dismissed.

BORAH PRESENTS PARLEY PLEA

New Resolution Urges Economic Conference of Powers

FACES STIFF OPPOSITION

Strategy May Be Employed in Getting Action

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — In the face of certain administration opposition Senator Borah today introduced a resolution, urging and requesting President Harding to invite all the nations concerned to a economic conference to attempt settlement of the reparations and kindred problems.

Borah's resolution was identical with the exception of one word, with the one he presented as an amendment to the naval appropriation bill and which he withdrew when administration spokesmen in the senate assured him that a foreign policy was being outlined which the resolution might embarrass.

The one change Borah made was substitution of the word "settlements" for word "arrangements," in reference to economic questions. He felt that the word "arrangements" might be subject to misinterpretation.

Most employ strategy. If he is to get an expression from the senate on his resolution, Borah will have to employ strategy, he admitted today. With administration leaders opposed to it and determined to stick to a program in which consideration of international matters has no place, it would be difficult for Borah to have his proposal considered.

Borah's purpose in introducing it was two-fold—first to keep the economic conference idea before the public and second, to be ready should an opportunity appear for senatorial action on the question.

So far as is known, President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes are no more in favor of Borah's plan today than they were previously. Taking their cue from the executive departments, senate leaders therefore will try to stifle Borah's resolution.

At the present, Borah will let the resolution lie on the table, to be called up when a good opportunity presents itself.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY FOR DELPHOS WOMAN WHO DIED SUDDENLY WHILE IN LIMA

Sudden death of Miss Anna Ochs, 58, Delphos, on N. Main-st Monday at 2 p. m. cut short a trip to Florida on which she had started with her sister, Mrs. Margaret Miller, a brother, Chris Ochs and a niece, Mrs. Ethel Matthews.

They were preparing to make train connections and the other members of the party had left Miss Ochs for a few minutes. When she returned she was dead. She had been a sufferer from heart trouble for over eight years.

Besides Mrs. Miller and Chris Ochs, both of Delphos, she is survived by another brother, George Ochs, near Spencerville.

The body was taken Monday evening to her home at 419 N. Sixth-st, Delphos, where funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. in Walnut Grove cemetery.

ALLEGED ASSAULT ON CHILD TO GO ON TRIAL WEDNESDAY BEFORE JURY

Alva Phillips, 20, farm hand, will go on trial before a jury in connection with the alleged assault on a child of attempted criminal assault.

Zelma Lippincott, 12, a school girl, is the complaining witness.

Phillips was indicted by the January grand jury and pleaded not guilty. His girl wife, Beitha Phillips, has stood by Phillips. She steadfastly refuses to believe him guilty.

A stranger met little Zelma Lippincott on a lonely road east of the city. He attacked Zelma and her little sister. The girls screamed and the youngest ran away from the scene.

Fearing that she might bring aid, the man let go of the child, who then escaped to her home.

Phillips was identified by the two children as their assailant.

Proof that a mysterious stranger was lurking in the neighborhood is being relied upon by the defendant to establish his innocence.

WILL ADDRESS C. E.

Dr. Elwood Rowsey, Toledo, will address the members of the Allen Co. Christian Endeavor society, Tuesday, 7:30 p. m. at the Market Street Presbyterian church. Reeves, Jr. of Columbus, seriously injured when his auto was struck on the Dime Highway crossing south of the city by a B & O Railroad passenger train, will not be required to suffer amputation of his leg, it was announced Tuesday from St. Rita's hospital. Reeves is greatly improved, his physician states.

A. A. Reeves of New York and Major W. S. Pola of Erie, Pa., father and father-in-law of Reeves, who came here after the accident, returned to their homes Tuesday.

The injured man was a soldier in the World war and suffered wounds from shrapnel and machine gun bullets. He was twice cited for bravery in action, it is ascertained.

BAPTIST WORKERS TO MEET HERE

School of Methods Conference Will Open Wednesday

A school of methods conference will be held in the First Baptist church Wednesday afternoon and evening. Rev. Warren L. Steeves announced Tuesday.

While the conference is designed for the workers of Lima and vicinity especially, it will be attended by workers from the entire district between Toledo and Cincinnati, Rev. Steeves said.

Among the speakers will be Dr. F. H. J. Lerrigo, Ph. D. home secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society, and Dr. Frederick Agar, church efficiency secretary of the general board of promotion of the Northern Baptist convention.

General discussion of methods for the carrying on of church work so as to receive a maximum of results will be the feature of the conference. Other speakers, besides the two mentioned, will be in charge of the meetings.

The conference will open with a luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday noon and will be followed by an afternoon session at the First Baptist church. Dinner will be served at the church in the evening and a general mass meeting for all workers at the church in the evening.

An invitation has been extended to the general public to attend the various sessions of the conference and especially the evening meeting, Rev. Steeves said.

MYSTERY WOMAN

Figures Prominently in Farrar-Tellegen Divorce Suit

NEW YORK — "A dark, small woman, of Spanish type" today is the central figure in the Farrar-Tellegen divorce suit, following testimony by Referee Thomas H. Maloney by two residents of Long Beach.

Jack Bogardus, grocer and August Larsen, operator of small fishing boats, told of how they saw Tellegen and the woman together in Long Beach. It was learned. The actor, they testified, had a bungalow just outside the town and Bogardus said he saw the woman there when he delivered groceries.

Bogardus also claims he rented them a fishing boat.

After a third witness, Miss Farrar's secretary, was heard, the case was adjourned until Monday.

ALLEGED BAD CHECKS ARE CASHED BY TWO LIMA FIRMS

Two Lima business men reported to police Monday afternoon they had been made the victims of bad check artists.

L. W. Hammond, 784 W. Wayne-st, manager of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company, W. Market-st, told police a well dressed man of about 60 years of age cashed at his store worthless checks amounting to $100 Tuesday. The check was made payable to R. B. Lewis and bore the signature of A. N. Walker and company.

L. Veonick, manager of the Philip Kohr company, loan brokers on E. Market-st, told police a young man cashed a check with them for $18.40. Veonick says the check is worthless. It was made payable to James A. Williams and bears the signature Samuel B. Brown.

DELPHOS CLUB IN FIGHT FOR CANAL

Kiwanians Oppose Move for Abandonment of Waterway

Delphos Kiwanians took action Monday night in opposing a move by Senator Farnsworth of Lucas-co to have the Miami and Erie canal abandoned between Defiance and Toledo and between Dayton and Middletown.

A telegram was sent by the Kiwanian public affairs and park committee to its chairman, L. C. Laudick, who is in Columbus attending a press convention, to meet with a committee that has the Farnsworth Bill under consideration. The committee is composed of Senator Farnsworth and Senator Carpenter of Wood-co. The legislation was introduced Monday in the senate and referred immediately to the committee.

Advocates of canal improvement fear that any move suggested by the committee will be acted upon by the senate, hence are striving to nip it in the bud. Defiance has presented a petition in opposition, bearing 5,600 names.

George N. Leasure, ex-mayor of Delphos, left for Columbus to use his influence as an officer of the Inland Waterways association to protect the legislation.

The move is seen by Delphos Kiwanians in the light of a real estate proposition. Toledo real estate men want a stretch of the canal three miles or more in length for a boulevard and are fighting for abandonment of the waterway. Opinion among Delphos supporters of the canal movement is that the Miami and Erie is a federal undertaking and cannot be tampered with by Ohio solons.

2 MEN KILLED IN STREET BATTLE

Riot Breaks Out Between Rail-workers and Police

CORBIN, KY. — (United Press) — Two men were killed in street fighting between Louisville and Nashville Railroad employees and special police here today. Two others were wounded.

The dead: J. C. Barker, 42, L. & N. dispatcher; George Yarden, 27, special guard.

The injured: Jeff Barker, 27, L. & N. switchman, shot thru the leg; W. A. Day, special guard, slightly wounded.

The shooting started, guards claimed, when they tried to find out who had fired a shot, seeming to have come from where the Barker brothers were standing.

The Barker brothers became angry, the guards charged, and opened fire.

Several bullets pierced J. C. Barker's body. Yarden was shot thru the head. Both died instantly.

LAWYER'S ASHES TO BE SCATTERED TO WINDS

NEW YORK — The ashes of the late Park Benjamin, lawyer and historian, will be scattered to the four winds from the exact center of the Atlantic Ocean, it was learned today. The will was done by Miss Anna Bolchi Benjamin, adopted daughter of the lawyer to whom he left his entire half million dollar estate to the exclusion of his daughter, Mrs. Enrico Caruso, and his sons and daughters.

SNEARY'S HIP FRACTURED, X-RAY PICTURES SHOW

Examination of the right hip of John Sneary, Delphos, injured when a dray on which he was riding was struck at Canal and First-sts, by an auto, revealed at Lima city hospital that the bone is fractured.

Sneary was removed to the hospital for an X-ray examination. He will remain here three weeks.

INSTALLATION DELAYED

Installation of H. D. Bickel and H. A. Lang as members of the Delphos board of health has been postponed until February 24. A meeting was to have been held Friday, but was postponed because of lack of a quorum. Bickel and Lang were recently appointed by Mayor J. K. Williams.

WILSON FUND EXEMPT

WASHINGTON — Commissioner Blair of the internal revenue bureau has ruled that contributions to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation made subsequent to December 26, 1922, are legally exempt from application of the income tax laws. The ruling represents a reversal from the bureau's previous stand because of the incorporation December 26 of the foundation.

REVOLUTION BREAKS OUT IN RIO GRANDE DE SUL

RIO DE JANEIRO. — A revolutionary movement has broken out in the state of Rio Grande de Sul, according to dispatches from Sao Paulo to the Correia de Menna here.

The insurrectionists, led by General Menna Barreto and Deputy Arthur Caetano, are said to be in control of the villages of Soledade, Flumense, Erechim and Passo Fundo.

Correia informant, who quotes telegrams from Rio Grande de Sul, adds that Governor Medeiros has appealed to the federal government to protect state property there. State troops are being held in Porto Alegre.

FAMILY WELFARE BODY FORMED

Is Successor of City Social Service Bureau

Formation of the Family Welfare association, to take the place of the Social Service Bureau, was effected at a meeting of between 25 and 30 social workers in the Board of Commerce auditorium Monday night.

This will be an independent organization and will not be connected in any other way with other civic bodies, it was announced. It will, however, receive aid from the city, as in the past.

Following a short talk by Miss Ruth Hill, family service worker from New York city, and the reading of a report by Mrs. Irene Mills Jackson, the workers decided to reorganize the charity work of the city along modern lines.

Constitution providing for a governing body of 15 was adopted. The board is divided into three sections.

Those who will hold office for three years are: Ernest M. Botkin, R. E. Offenbauer, George Eckert, Mrs. M. C. Dimond and Rev. E. Bruce Jacobs. Two year officials, Mrs. Nettie Miller, Mrs. J. E. Grosjean, Harry Schenk, N. L. Michael and George Metheany. One year officials, Julius Wise, Mrs. Virgil Kinsley, Mrs. Charles Killen, Mrs. Fred Becker and Judge Phil M. Crow.

The board of directors will hold its first organization meeting Friday at 3:30 p. m. it was announced. Officers will be elected at that time and the financial policy of the association outlined. The meeting will be held in the Board of Commerce auditorium.

Plans for the reorganization of the bureau are meeting with enthusiasm among the charity workers of the city, it was said Tuesday. It is believed that the work will be placed on a much better basis by the move.

ACTION BY JUDGE BECKER MAY BE LAST WORD IN SIX CRABBE ACT INFRACTIONS

What may be the last word in six liquor cases is expected Tuesday in action by Judge Fred C. Becker, in reviewing Crabbe act infractions on error.

The half dozen cases largely had their origin in criminal court where large fines were levied by Judge Emmett J. Jackson.

The defendants declined to pay and chose to spend their capital in fighting in the higher courts.

Judge Becker indicated no immediate decisions will be given. He will look over the transcripts of testimony and study exceptions made by counsel, to discover possible error.

The cases to be heard on error are those of Ray H. Kasey, cook 215 1-2 E. North-st; Lee Clements, hotel man, 308 S. Main-st; Frank Wallace, soft drink man, N. Central-av; J. W. "Doc" Durr, former S. Main-st saloon man; E. E. South, repair man; and L. W. Lucas.

CHILD RECOVERING

Condition of Robert Clarence Carter, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Carter, residing six miles south of Lima, was reported greatly improved Tuesday afternoon. The child swallowed a quantity of cold tablets and little hope was held out for his recovery.

AUTO PRICE BOOST IS FORECAST

Rock Bottom Reached Leading Manufacturers Declare

DETROIT — (United Press) — Automobile prices have reached "rock bottom" and from now on, will show a tendency to advance, according to leading manufacturers here today.

Several companies already have announced slight increases and it is reported others soon will do likewise.

Increased cost of basic materials and labor is given as the reason for price advances.

"Everything points to the conclusion that automobile prices have reached rock bottom and that the next movement will be upward," said W. R. Wilson, president of the Maxwell Motor Company.

"The automobile industry was the first to deflate to the limit after the war, and it found itself justified in doing so by the prompt return in volume of business.

"Now, it faces the fact that for the last six months primary materials of every sort have been trending upward in price and labor still is commanding high wages and getting scarce.

"It is always possible that certain companies, whose prices were too high during the war or companies that find it necessary to liquidate their inventories may reduce prices but the best entrenched manufacturers with distributing facilities well established will not be lowering prices in the near future."

GENERAL BOOST SEEN

CHICAGO — Price increases will be general thruout the automobile industry within 90 days, vice-president of the Rickenbacker Automobile Company, declared here today.

"The automobile market has hit the bottom," Rickenbacker said. "The reaction is under way. The cost of spring cars to the consumer will be higher."

A score of dealers and officials of well-known automobile factories agreed with the former ace of the air service who is now one of the outstanding figures in the automotive industry. Practically every automobile on the market is represented at the Chicago automobile show.

THREE DRUG COMPANY OFFICIALS INDICTED

CINCINNATI — One thousand offenses involving $1,000,000 worth of whiskey are alleged in federal grand jury indictments against three officials of the Independent Drug Company here today. The specific charge is conspiracy to violate the federal dry law in drawing bonded liquor from three large Kentucky distilleries in Frankfort, Louisville and Owensboro without permits.

Those indicted are: Otto Katz, president; George H. Lander, vice-president and Harry Miller, secretary.

The indictments followed weeks of investigation. Witnesses examined by the jury included retail druggists from all over the country according to United States District Attorney Thomas H. Morrow.

The booze, Morrow said, was sold to persons in Butte, Newport News, Philadelphia, Hannibal, Mo., Fort Worth, Texas and Cincinnati and other cities.

GOETTLING, HELD SANE, ON TRIAL

Sterilization May Be Asked for Former Lima Prisoner

Fred Goettling, confessed slayer of Harry Kelm, Cleveland hardware dealer, will be tried as a sane man, County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton reiterated Tuesday as Goettling went on trial charged with first degree murder. A committee of three alienists appointed last week reported late Monday that Goettling is sane.

Goettling confessed to police he killed Kelm with an ax January 6 because Kelm refused to pay him $20 for whisky he sold him. County Prosecutor Stanton said he would ask for the death penalty.

Report of the alienists appointed to examine into Goettling's sanity declared it their unanimous judgment that Goettling is sane and had full knowledge of his actions at the time of the murder. In event that a jury refuses to impose the death penalty on Goettling, Stanton said he would fight for sterilization.

Goettling was flayed by the alienists as a dangerous criminal who should not be allowed at large. The accused man has a criminal record. He has served in Mansfield reformatory, Columbus penitentiary, and state hospitals for the insane. He was released from the Lima state hospital a cured some months before the Kelm murder.

FAIR GROUND NOW IN CITY LIMITS

Annexed, With Other Tracts, Will Bring Tax Income

Improvement Petitions Granted
by Commission

Annexation of the fair grounds property to the city was accomplished by the city commission at its regular meeting Monday night.

This step was taken in order that the cost of the huge sewers being laid in that section of the city can be assessed against the property, it was announced.

As the fair grounds property has until recently been under lease by the Allen-co fair board, it has been paying no taxes and it would have been impossible for the city to compel its owners to pay their share of the sewer costs unless taken into the corporation.

Now, however, the property is no longer leased by the county and everything is clear for its annexation to the city, it was said at the commission meeting. There is a section in the tract that will be called upon to aid the city in paying for the sewers.

This is the finest residence property section on the eastern part of the city, it is pointed out, and if the city had not taken the action it did Monday night, the property would probably have escaped paying for the sewers, from which it will benefit.

SECRECY CLOAKS MOVE
Move to annex the fair grounds property was cloaked with secrecy by the commissioners, as it was feared that the grounds might be leased to the county before the proceedings had been started, Mayor
Harold Cunningham, stated.

If this had taken place, it is pointed out, the property would have been untaxable by the city during the period of the lease. By the time the lease expired, the cost of the sewer would be assessed against other property and the fair grounds permanently escape taxation.

It is believed the action of the city in annexing the property will hasten its being placed on the tax building jobs and broken up into lots. A number of streets have already been platted, it is said, and with a big real estate market, this year the fair grounds may permanently pass out.

Two other additions to the city were also approved by the commission. One is bounded by Rice-ville, Cole-st., Northern-st. and Washington-st. and the other is bounded by Rice-ville, Cole-st.,
Northern-st. and Washington-st.

The city is smaller and is bounded by Rice-ville, Cole-st., Northern-st. and Washington-st. and the other is bounded by Rice-ville, Cole-st.,
Northern-st. and Washington-st.

There are now 169 homes in the three parcels annexed, making a total increase of 845 in the city's population, city officials estimate.

Considerable new building in that section is planned this year, according to W. R. Mummaugh, president of the Real Estate board.

GRANT PAVING, SEWERS
A resolution declaring it necessary to improve Central-av from Wayne-st to the Pennsylvania Railroad by paving and sewers was adopted by the commission.

Permission was granted the Farmers Equity Creamery company to erect a loading platform and lay railroad tracks in Sugar-st adjacent to its proposed plant.

Purchase of a one year's supply of chemicals used in the purification of water at the filtration plant, was authorized by the commission. The chemical will cost approximately $8,500.

Petition for the laying of a trunk sewer in N. McDonald-st. from Ashton-av to O'Connor-av, was presented by I. R. Longworth, attorney for the owners of the O'Brien addition. There will be 155 lots served by this sewer, it was said.

FARMER'S CONDITION DECLARED IMPROVING

WASHINGTON — Agricultural from a financial standpoint is getting better although the farmer's dollar opened the new year with a purchasing power equal to 86 cents before the war. For last year the average index number of the purchasing power of farm products in terms of other commodities that farmers buy was 59, an increase of 2 points over 1921 but a decrease of 17 points from the 1920 average, according to department of agriculture index figures just completed.

December was approved over November, an increase of five points having been shown in the index number of the average farm prices of ten leading crops and a decrease of 1 point in the price of commodities, excluding farm and food products that farmers buy.

PROPHET MISSES IT IN FORECAST

Sitting on top of the world and advantaging every minute of the opportunity afforded to enjoy Old Sol's benevolent rays, the weather mascot is tickled all over in contemplation of the marked fallow of the prophet in outlining conditions for Monday night.

"Twas a clear and snappy night, instead of a time for humidity and rainfall. And Tuesday, too, I failed to perform according to the schedule made up by the forecaster.

Bright sunshine made the day, up to noon at least — no mist, no fog, no rain, no snow. Having made up with my uniform success in his predictions for a considerable period of time, the weatherman was about due to stub his toe, so what has occurred occasions no surprise to anyone.

Cloudy and warmer, probably snow or rain tonight and Wednesday, quoth the prognosticator, attending to his duties in the setting up pins for the night and day previous.

The weatherman is just the same as our other mortals. He carries a lead pencil with a rubber tip in his vest pocket. If none of us made mistakes, there would be no need of such an article as part of the stock in trade of the book stores and supply houses.

NEW STAMP SERIES TO GO ON SALE HERE SOON
Postage stamps of the 1922-1923 series have been received by the Lima postoffice and will be placed on sale as soon as the present stock of stamps is disposed of, Postmaster A.
E. Gale said Tuesday.

These stamps are issued in one,
two, four, nine and 10 cent denominations and were placed on sale in Washington January 15. They have already found their way into the regimental mail.

Descriptions are as follows: One cent, green, picture of Franklin;
two cent, red, Washington; four cent, brown, Martha Washington;
nine cent, pink, Jefferson; 10 cent,
yellow, Monroe.

Postal authorities believe the new stamps will be much more acceptable to the general public than the older issues, because of their beauty and variety.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT
KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder
Bothers You, Begin
Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract.
Keep your kidneys clean. Like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water — you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast;
each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which anyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active.
Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. — Adv.

Lima Chiropractors Still Determined to Resist Fine

Barriers between chiropractors of Lima and the state and prosecution for the practice of medicine without a license were being rapidly swept aside Tuesday.

Members of the state supreme court refused to grant George D.
Meeker, Cincinnati, a temporary injunction against the state medical board until their rights have been finally determined by the tribunal.

With this cleared up, it is believed that wholesale arrests will be made in every city and village of the state where chiropractors are located.

Members of the profession in Lima reiterated Tuesday their determination to go to jail rather than pay the $500 fine which is being imposed on those found guilty of operating without a license from the state.

A final adjudication of the rights and privileges of a chiropractor by the supreme court or the enactment of a law giving relief is asked by the Lima chiropractors.

POISON LIQUOR CAUSES DEATH OF 307 PERSONS

PHILADELPHIA — Poison liquor caused 307 deaths here during January, according to Frank Paul, chief investigator of the coroner's office.

"The man or woman who keeps drinking the stuff sold by hootch peddlers going around the city today is bargaining for nothing but certain death," Coroner's investigator said.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN
CLEVELAND — Peter McClary, 45, alleged swindler, who, police say, has evaded arrest since September was on the verge of death today as the result of being shot thru the back and abdomen while running away from three patrolmen sent to arrest him at his home last night.
If he recovers he will face two charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, police said.

FAIR GROUND NOW IN CITY LIMITS

Annexed, With Other Tracts, Will Bring Tax Income

AID IN PAYING FOR SEWERS

Improvement Petitions Granted by Commission

Annexation of the fair grounds property to the city was accomplished by the city commission at its regular meeting Monday night. This step was taken in order that the cost of the huge sewers being laid in that section of the city can be assessed against the property, it was announced. As the fair grounds property has until recently been under lease by the Allen-co fair board, it has been paying no taxes and it would have been impossible for the city to compel its owners to pay their share of the sewer costs unless taken into the corporation. Now, however, the property is no longer leased by the county and everything is clear for its annexation to the city, it was said at the commission meeting. There is 33 acres in the tract that will be called upon to aid the city in paying for the sewers.

This is the finest residence property section on the eastern part of the city, it is pointed out, and if the city had taken the action it did Monday night, the property would probably have escaped paying for the sewers, from which it will benefit later.

SECRECY CLOAKS MOVE

Move to annex the fair grounds property was cloaked with secrecy by the commissioners, as it was feared that the grounds might be leased to the county before the proceedings had been started, Mayor H. Cunningham announced. If it had taken place, it is pointed out, the property would have been untaxable by the city during the period of the lease. By the time the lease expired, the cost of the sewer would be assessed against other property and the fair grounds permanently escape taxation.

It is believed the action of the city in annexing the property will hasten its being broken up into building lots and placed on the market. A number of streets have already been platted, it is said, and with a big real estate market this year the fair grounds may permanently pass out.

Two other additions to the city were also approved by the commission. One is bounded by Rice-st., Cole-st., Northern-av. and Western-av. comprising 40 city blocks. The other is smaller and is bounded by Kibby-st., the alley east of Cherry-st., Franklin-st. and the corporation line back to Kibby-st.

There are now 169 homes in the three parcels annexed, making a total increase of 845 in the city's population, city officials estimate. Considerable new building in that section is planned this year, according to W. R. Mummaugh, president of the Real Estate board.

GRANT PAVING, SEWERS

A resolution declaring it necessary to improve Central-av from Wayne-st to the Pennsylvania Railroad by paving and sewers was adopted by the commission.

Permission was granted the Farmers Equity Creamery company to erect a loading platform and lay railroad tracks in Sugar-st adjacent to its proposed plant.

Purchase of a one year's supply of chemicals used in the purification of water at the filtration plant, was authorized by the commission. The chemical will cost approximately $8,500.

PETITION FOR THE LAYING OF A TRUNK SEWER IN N. McDonald-st., from Ashburn- to O'Connor-av. was presented by J. R. Longworth, attorney for the owners of the O'Brien addition. There will be 155 lots served by this sewer, it was said.

FARMER'S CONDITION DECLARED IMPROVING

WASHINGTON — Agricultural from a financial standpoint is getting better altho the farmer's dollar opened the new year with a purchasing power equal to 86 cents before the war. For last year the average index number of the purchasing power of farm products in terms of other commodities that farmers buy was 99, an increase of 2 points over 1919 but a decrease of 17 points from the 1920 average, according to department of agriculture index figures just completed. December improved over November, an increase of five points having been shown in the index number of the average farm prices of ten leading crops and a decrease of 1 point in the price of commodities, excluding food and food products that farmers buy.

PROPHET MISSES IT IN FORECAST

Sitting on top of the world and advantaging every minute of the opportunity afforded to enjoy Old Sol's benevolent rays, the weather mascot is tickled all over in contemplation of the marked falldown of the prophet in outlining conditions for Monday night.

'Twas a clear and snappy night, instead of a time for humidity and rainfall. And Tuesday, too, failed to perform according to the schedule made up by the forecaster.

Bright sunshine made the day, up to noon at least, most inviting, whereas rain was booked. Having met up with uniform success in his predictions for a considerable period of time, the weatherman was about due to stub his toe, so what has occurred occasions no surprise to anyone.

Cloudy and warmer, probably snow or rain tonight and Wednesday, quoths the prognosticator, after taking a view of his failure in setting up pins for the night and day previous.

The weatherman is just the same as our mortal. He carries a lead pencil with a rubber tip in his vest pocket. If none of us made mistakes, there would be no need of such an article as part of the stock in trade of the book stores and supply houses.

NEW STAMP SERIES TO GO ON SALE HERE SOON

Postage stamps of the 1922-1923 series have been received by the Lima postoffice and will be placed on sale as soon as the present stock of stamps is disposed of. Postmaster A. E. Gale said Tuesday.

These stamps are issued in one, two, four, nine and 10 cent denominations and were placed on sale in Washington January 15. They have already found their way into the regular mails.

Descriptions are as follows: One cent, green, picture of Franklin; two cent, red, Washington; four cent, brown, Martha Washington; nine cent, pink, Jefferson; 10 cent, yellow, Monroe.

Postal authorities believe the new stamps will be much more acceptable to the general public than the older issues, because of their beauty and variety.

J. R. MARSHALL, PIONEER OF COUNTY, DIES AT 83

Joseph R. Marshall, pioneer resident of Ashburn-co, died early Tuesday morning at his home, 721 W. High-st., following an illness of six weeks. He was born in Champlain-co, October 21, 1833, and was a member of Mart Armstrong Post, G. A. R. Besides the widow, he is survived by one brother, Hamilton Marshall, of Lima.

Funeral services at 2 p. m. from the residence. Interment in Wood lawn.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which anyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Lima Chiropractors Still Determined to Resist Fine

Barriers between chiropractors of Lima and the state and prosecution for the practice of medicine without a license were being rapidly swept aside Tuesday.

Members of the state supreme court refused to grant George D. Meeker, Cincinnati, a temporary injunction against the state medical board until their rights have been finally determined by the tribunal. With this cleared up, it is believed that wholesale arrests will be made in every city and village of the state where chiropractors are located.

Members of the profession in Lima reiterated Tuesday their determination to go to jail rather than pay the $500 fine which is being imposed on those found guilty of operating without a license from the state.

A final adjudication of the rights and privileges of a chiropractor by the supreme court or the enactment of a law giving relief is asked by the Lima chiropractors.

POISON LIQUOR CAUSES DEATH OF 307 PERSONS

PHILADELPHIA—Poison liquor caused 307 deaths here during January, according to Frank Paul, chief investigator of the coroner's office.

"The man or woman who keeps drinking the stuff sold by hootch peddlers going around the city today is bargaining for nothing but certain death," Coroner's investigator said.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN

CLEVELAND — Peter McCloy, 45, alleged swindler, who, police say, had evaded arrest since September was on the verge of death today as the result of being shot thru the back and abdomen while running away from three patrolmen sent to arrest him at his home last night. If he recovers he will face two charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, police said.

FIREMEN PLAN GOLDEN JUBILEE CONVENTION AT VAN WERT, ON JUNE 20

Wednesday, June 20, is the date chosen for the golden jubilee convention of the Northwestern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association, to be held at Van Wert. The association was organized at Ada, 50 years ago, and J. H. Fronsfield, of Van Wert, was one of the charter members. He has not missed attending an annual convention in half a century.

The Van Wert convention will pay particular honor to Fronsfield, as he is the only charter member still identified with the association. At a meeting of officers of the organization, with representatives of the Van Wert clearing house, Mayor Leo and other officials and citizens, held in that city Monday night, plans were formulated for the June event.

The meeting was attended by J. W. Fisher, of Lima, secretary of the association, C. A. Cross, of Willard, is president.

COAL AGREEMENT SIGNED PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH — Possibility of another coal strike this summer was eliminated today, following announcement that the Pittsburgh Coal Producers Association, representing 20,000,000 tons annually, has signed the present union wage scale agreement for one year, beginning April 1, 1923.

Can't Stop Joint-Ease

"You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sore throat and cold in chest," writes one of our druggist friends. "They say it's the best ever."

We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen, painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most satisfying results.

A tube costs 50 cents at Groen's Public drug store and druggists everywhere. Just rub it on and in a few seconds it disappears completely under the skin, and relief follows instantly.—Adv.

IN A TRANCE

AN extraordinary case comes over the telegraph wire from Phoenix, Ariz. Two doctors and a coroner pronounce George W. Stevenson dead. But Stevenson's family and friends refuse to permit burial. They believe he is alive—in the peculiar state of suspended animation known as catalepsy.

Remarkable case, you comment? Yet Hudson, celebrated psychic investigator, learned that there is at least one such case of suspended animation each week in the United States.

WASHINGTON IRVING BISHOP, famous mind-reader, on several occasions went into a cataleptic state and dumb-founded physicians by coming out of his trance after they had pronounced him dead. There is reason to believe that an autopsy finally was performed on him during one of his trances.

Hudson, writing 31 years ago, recorded this case:

"A lady now at the head of one of the largest orphan asylums in a western city has been twice pronounced dead by attending physicians, twice prepared for the grave, and twice resuscitated by her friends. On the last occasion, extraordinary precautions were taken, in view of her former experience. Vigorous treatment restored her to consciousness.

"Upon being restored, the lady declared that she had never for a moment lost consciousness, that she knew all that went on around her, perfectly comprehended the significance of all the tests which were applied, but felt the utmost indifference as to the result, and was neither surprised nor alarmed when it was decided that she was dead."

According to this, death may not be as unpleasant an experience as most of us fear.

CATALEPSY has always been the greatest of medical mysteries. In the old days, many cataleptics probably were buried alive. That fate is an extremely remote possibility now, for science has made great strides in death tests.

This peculiar condition of suspended animation, in which even the heart apparently ceases to function, is extremely rare. It may follow a long period of illness or nervous exhaustion, as a complete rest and recuperation for the exhausted body.

Again, catalepsy is a hypnotic phenomenon, and it may be brought about by hypnosis. It is a weird subject, and our purpose in discussing it is to emphasize the dangers that may overtake amateur dabblers in hypnosis. The warning is timely, for a wave of hypnosis apparently is getting under way, as the logical successor of interest in autosuggestion—self hypnosis.

BUY YOUR AUTOMOBILE LICENSE TAGS

ALTHOUGH automobile owners are required, technically, to buy new automobile license tags early in each year, the time limit for performing this duty has been extended.

A certain date in January was set when tags were supposed to be on cars. A great percentage of drivers had not obtained their new license numbers and more time was given them to comply with the law.

This is a duty that should not be postponed. Each year it requires more and more time to get cars equipped with new tags. A halt must be called soon or we will have all of our cars supplied before the tags are obsolete, if the present practice is permitted to continue. Hundreds of automobiles may be seen in Lima with 1922 tags. They should have the scarlet and grey, an indication that their owners are glad to obey the law and keep up with the times.

STRAP-HANGERS

OVER 15 billion passengers rode on street cars and other American electric railways in 1922. That represents about 136 rides for each of us during the year.

Traffic would be hopelessly congested if it were not for the auto relieving street cars. And it will not be many years until the airplane will have to come to the relief of autos and street cars. Year by year we cover more ground. A long trip, once considered the event of a lifetime, now is matter-of-course and rather boring.

This national tendency to travel explains the partial dissolution of the home.

home, The Aquarium. Put in at Clark's dog hospital where the brave little puppie of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Benton, New Haven, is spending a fortnight. Having fractured his love front limb, or is it leg? Mr. and Mrs. B.—are friends of the Eckers, but reside the year-round at Ft. Lauderdale. Which is booming like a French 75. No population in 1920, over 6,000 in January, 1923. The lots are above water almost all the time. Lunched at the Miramar Inn. Not so bad, if they would take the egg off the dishes. You feel like it is breakfast. And one guest in canvas knickers actually complained. Being given his money back. That is, his tip, the waiter, a Sidway laundress, growing quite angry, doncherknow.

The Doerings of farm implements have an estate here, but have not as yet sent me a dinner invitation. The I did see W. K. Vanderhill boarding his yacht, and Harvey S. Hiresone, whom I have paid much money for fabrics, came in this morning in his Rolle-Royce, having no trouble along the way.

John Boose and Simon Fishel arrived in Miami this morning. At five o'clock, so I wasn't down to greet them. Now, here is F. L. Faust, the expert puilologist. May open a winter tooth factory here. But now in golfing attire, pink cheeks, a strong ankle, n'vrything. He carries his clubs like Clair Tolan, with a leaning to the starboard side. It's hard to miss one of them "EAT" and Piggy-Wiggy signs.

Mr. Bryan, the Great Commoner, who warns you off his sands, is to formally open the bandstand to-night. With a few timely remarks. No thanks; I'll play bridge instead. In the late afternoon, back to

The Beach in Mrs. Van Note's car, and saw a polo game. Just like shimmy, except you use horses instead of shanks. Mr. Fisher plays a nasty cue.

Styles? The better dressed are keeping them low, but the colors all in the rainbow with many by-products. Almann, Taylor or Bonvill-Teller have nothing in the windows that Blum, Feldman, Carter, Gregg, Leiser and Deisel will not show you. Matching of hose to costume is still in vogue.

The men wear the same old things. One big hotel took a census and there were two guests with dress suits. They were ordered home. A tax, with winged collar is the swank, but many men affect the turn over and get away with it. To greater comfort. Flannel trousers and the inevitable blue serge coat is the demi-formal.

Dined on real chops, too heavy. Wish I had George here to teach them how to make cake. It's awful, the cake. Here comes Auntie Mayme to introduce me to one of her friends, who is limping. Her husband has retired to enjoy the rest of his days. And I give him ninety days, but she will probably go on forever.

Not a cabin on a boat for Havana. So, we sail when the tide starts out. Isn't that nerve-wracking, to wait on nature to move you?

We'll be in Havana over night, sleeping on the boat which is cheaper, and less comfortable. The Plaza charges $15 a day just for the bed, not the meals. And Fisher's Beach Flamingo has a modest rate of $36 a day, with a nice suite for yourself and children at $90 to $100. The tooth picks come wrapped in tissue, individually dropped from a free dropper. So to the wharf and aboard ship. It's 85 degrees up.

WHEN THEY BEGIN TO HARDEN

A thoughtful reader asks which of the arteries is the first to harden. In arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries, and a thoughtless one asks what are the early symptoms, forgetting that I do not equip readers with symptoms, early or late. A practical reader asks whether I can describe, in a way a layman can understand, what causes hardening of the arteries and whether anything can be done to prevent the development of the condition.

First, notwithstanding many poets and philosophers to the contrary, old age does not cause hardening of the arteries, nor does hardening of the arteries cause old age, but both conditions may and do occur in some cases as results of an unfortunate state of mind, a kind of false dignity or austerity, you know, the thing which makes a girl an old maid. Just what is that state of mind? I can only feebly suggest what I mean when I say that if you can roll a dozen somersaults, forward and backward and come up smiling, you're still young. Try that some time, if your arteries are not too brittle. It is really a very good test of age.

Certain poisons are notorious factors of hardening of the arteries. Alcohol, tobacco, lead, the toxin or toxin fed into the blood by the germs present in foot of infection, when such feet are permitted to remain untreated over long periods, are important causes of hardening of the arteries in comparatively young persons.

Overwork is often listed among the factors of arteriosclerosis. These things which suffer so much from "overwork" are really victims of overeating and neglect of exercise. The truth is that a little honest work might save their arteries. "Hypertension" or "high tension" in "big business" is nothing else in the world but too much to eat and physical laziness, a combination of luxuries and sins calculated to drive any man to perdition here on earth. Golf is a poor antidote for "overwork," for very few big eaters and long sitters play golf every day. Walking is a better antidote because everybody may walk every day. Some adequate amount of exercise must be taken every day to conserve the arteries. Those who do not find time for exercise will have to find time for illness, business or no business.

Sometimes the arterial degeneration progresses more rapidly in the brain area—apoplexy; sometimes in the heart area, angina pectoris or heart muscle failure; sometimes in the kidney area, chronic nephritis (Bright's disease); sometimes it is general—cardiovascular degeneration or general breakdown.

RESOLUTIONS

My salary commences
To vanish, ere it's earned,
I cannot meet expenses,
Tho' why, I've never learned,
In spite of how we plan,
We remain in debt and doubt,
We can't explain, nor can we Make it out.

We really ought to flourish,
My income's pretty good,
And yet we scarcely nourish
Our bodies as we should.
Our problem—who shall judge it?
There's just one way, we sigh,
"We've got to keep a budget—
Bye and bye."

Where does the money go to?
It's quite too tough for words,
To think of all we throw to
The little dicky birds.
A bank account we're craving,
Alas the dollars fly!
And we, instead of saving,
Buy and buy.

Some day, when we get to it,
We'll keep a ledger, planned
To show us, when we view it,
Exactly how we stand;
But now—we merely fudge it,
And watch our debts run high
We sure must keep a budget
Bye and bye!

(Actual size 5 1/2 inches long)

The skin excretes—it does not absorb. It derives its nourishment from within, not by external applications. The layer of tissue just under the skin derives its nourishment from the red blood corpuscles, and they, in turn, derive their nourishment from the food you eat. The easiest way to overcome skin blemishes is to nourish the red blood corpuscles.

Eline Bars are rich in protein and carbohydrates. Eline Bars are rich in cocoa butter.

Eline Bars are made of choice cocoa beans, purest refined sugar, and fresh, nourishing whole-cream milk from cows that feed in the emerald green fields of Wisconsin and drink crystal pure water from spring-fed lakes. Only this combination of green grass and pure water can produce rich milk.

Eline Bars are rich in flavor and delicious to taste—contain no substitutes or artificial oils—a pure and perfectly balanced ration.

REVEALS GOSSIP OF "400"

Mrs. Poindexter Discusses Washington Social Lobby

CONGRESS ALSO ATTACKED

Too Many Blocs at Capitol, Senator's Wife Says

(By FRASER EDWARDS)

WASHINGTON.—(United Press) Widespread discussion of the activities of "the Washington social lobby," and the old feud between the ladies of the cabinet and those of the senate sprang up here today as the result of Mrs. Miles Poindexter's letter to a western newspaper, in which she said wives of some cabinet officers furthered their social ambitions at government expense.

Saying that she has come to view official life in Washington from an "entirely different angle," Mrs. Poindexter, at Annapolis, today declared the furor aroused would not cause her to stop revealing the gossip of the capital's "400." She laughingly stated she would write a "more interesting letter" soon.

Mrs. Poindexter is not directing all her fire at the cabinet. She has this to say in her letter regarding congress:

ATTACK ON CONGRESS

"Congress has too many blocs—the farm bloc, the railroad bloc, the labor bloc—not to mention some of the blockheads that seem to be there."

Workings of the social lobby were denounced today by Senator Brookhart, Iowa, who is steering clear of the maze of Washington social life.

"I have heard much of the social bloc before I came to Washington and I strongly condemn this feature of official life here," he said. "I sympathize entirely with the opinion of former Senator Kenyon, who lashed the 'social bloc' in a speech just before he left the senate. But I don't think it is fair to say that they are doing more harm than good."

Mrs. Poindexter's letter has brought denials from some cabinet circles. Secretary of War Weeks denied her statement that the war department furnishes "good looking army officers" for Mrs. Weeks' functions. He admitted, however, that two army officers introduced guests at his New Year's reception.

Mrs. Poindexter had some choice comments for Senators LeFollette and Borah. It was revealed, as additional parts of the letter became available here.

"LeFollette, whom all sane people consider a danger to good government, has gone forward and deleted himself the leader of the progress," she wrote.

ALLEGED RUM VENDORS PARKED IN COUNTY JAIL; 20 PRISONERS LISTED

Alleged rum vendors whose fines aggregate $1,600, were parked in the county jail Tuesday, in lieu of payment, in company with one man convicted of driving while intoxicated.

All five were committed from criminal court by Judge Emmet J. Jackson. The list includes:

Dan Kelly alias Tod Rittenhour, fined $100 for possession.

James Hicks, $500 for possession of liquor.

Fred Mcron, $600 for illegal possession of liquor.

T. Amley, $100, on a similar charge.

Ben Anderson, Perry, farmer, sentenced to spend 30 days as a guest of the county for driving while intoxicated, made an ineffectual attempt Tuesday to secure release from jail, by petitioning the county commissioners.

Sheriff Croson now has a total of 16 prisoners in his keeping.

SUITS DISMISSED AT COST OF THE PLAINTIFFS

Two suits scheduled for trial in common pleas court Monday afternoon, were dismissed at cost of the plaintiffs.

Action for money brought by the Lima Home Savings company against the Garden City Builders, was dropped.

Prosecution on error of a case originating in juvenile court against Art Fowble, automobile salesman, on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a young girl, was dropped.

Idleness, profligacy, dissipation and a propensity for incarceration in jail are enumerated as faults of Louis Zimmerman, who was made defendant in a divorce action instituted by Ortha Zimmerman, Tuesday.

They were married at Columbus Grove in 1903, the petition relates, and have one daughter Esther, 18. During past year, Mrs. Zimmerman charges her mate has passed much of his time in the city and county jails. She seeks alimony.

Policy of Russia—Problems of the Ruhr—America's Position—Current Events of Great Importance Discussed for Students

By CHARLES F. STEWART

One thing about the Russians: What they say, they mean.

Ever since the soviet regime began, it's puzzled the rest of the world by this trick.

Each time an issue arises between Petrograd, or Moscow, and some other capital, the latter's diplomats, themselves full of lies, in the recognized diplomatic fashion, have expected the Russians to lie, too, which the Russians haven't done, thus fooling the negotiators who were opposed to them and getting themselves disliked very generally for their gross disregard of professional etiquette.

RUSSIA STATES HER POSITION

So when the Moscow government announces its position toward the present European crisis, its statement is entitled to a good deal more respectful attention than a similar announcement would be entitled to from any other Old World capital.

Russia says she doesn't particularly want war, but isn't afraid, either. She says she thinks the rest of Europe is moving in the direction of another war, perhaps not right away, but most likely in the not very distant future. She says she thinks she could profit by such a war, by going into it, she wouldn't be going to let her alone but she's sure they wouldn't. Consequently she's getting ready.

In the matter of the Ruhr in a general way she says she's sorry for Germany, but certainly she can't do anything about it unless the Germans do, and she doesn't believe she's going to; some of them talk as if they were, but her impression is, they're bluffing.

She says she hadn't anything to do with the Memel affair and doesn't intend to attack Poland, but suspects that Poland means to attack her, in which case she'll give her help.

If any treaty's made putting the Straits of Constantinople, her sole means of entrance into the "exit" from the Black Sea, under the authority of the League of Nations or any other jurisdiction except her own, Russia says she won't recognize it.

MOSUL DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

This remark relative to the Straits of Constantinople links up Russia's case with the dispute between Turkey and England, which the British consider more immediately threatening than even the Ruhr situation.

The Turkish envoys at Lausanne and Lord Curzon, the British representative, are deadlocked still, over control of the rich Turkish oil province of Mosul. Lord Curzon wants to submit the controversy to the League of Nations. The Turks, fearful of England's influence with the League, won't do this. They propose to let Mosul decide for itself, by a popular vote. The English, knowing the result would be Turkish, refuse this plebiscite proposition.

It's a deadlock which certainly would cause war but for one thing which may possibly prevent it—everybody knows that such a war, so far as England is concerned, would be a fight in behalf of British oil interests, and it's pretty doubtful if the London government will dare brave the anger of the masses of English people by engaging in it, whatever Lord Curzon may threaten.

RUHR VENTURE'S STATUS

As a military enterprise, France's occupation of the Ruhr is a good deal of a success, but as a damage-collecting undertaking, up to date it's proved a flat fizzle. What the French are getting out of the Germans now, the former's own leaders admit, is less than they were getting before the invasion started.

French troops have succeeded in drawing a cordon all around the occupied district and cutting it off from the rest of Germany, but nearly everything's tied up by a strike.

Even if, by a prolonged stay, which is what they're prepared for, the French could accomplish something, will their own people wait that long? Thus far, the invasion's only an expense to them, not only in hidden to be brought into the occupied area.

The Cuno government renewed its protests to Paris against the wholesale arrests of German officials. The French explained they are expelling all authorities who refuse to recognize the law of the invaders but are not otherwise punishing them.

Two hundred delegates of miners and associated workers met at Bochum and denounced the French. It was decided to continue resistance to the end, regardless of threats.

ORCHID WINS DIVORCE FROM WILD MUSTARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, Grand Opera star, whose husband, an orchid, was free today of the bonds of matrimony she contracted with Floyd Glatzback, who described himself as "wild mustard."

Glatzback, before he met the prima donna and after he separated from her was a chauffeur. He said an orchid and wild mustard would not thrive under like conditions.

Madame Matzenauer was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from Glatzback yesterday in superior court here on a cross-complaint she filed some time ago, after Glatzback sought marital freedom on the ground that she practiced cruelty on him.

She, in turn, alleged cruelty and asserted Glatzback had maintained a relationship with another woman, whom she named.

Roundabout reports reaching Berlin today, following extension of the state of siege, told of the most stringent measures being introduced in the occupied zones. These were said to include control of all newspapers and a ban against certain German and Rhineland dailies because of their anti-French sentiments. Such newspapers were for-bidden to be brought into the occupied area.

SURPRISES FOR FRANCE HINTED

Ludendorff Talks on Invasion of Ruhr Valley

FOE BENT ON RUIN, HE SAYS

Declares Paris Simply Wishes to Crush Germany

(By CARL D. GROAT)

MUNICH.—(United Press) —"France wants to get rid of Germany."

General Ludendorff, one of Germany's two most famous military leaders during the world war, thus expressed his view of the Ruhr occupation in an interview with the United Press at his villa overlooking Munich Valley, today.

The general, still symbolic to many of his countrymen of Germany's last military glory and still expected to lead a royalist revolt one of these days, attacked French militarism and accused the invaders of wanting to rid the country of Clemenceau's "20,000,000 Germans too many."

"For two hundred years the French have sought to ruin Germany," Ludendorff said. "France, with a population not surpassing 30,000,000, first dispersed some of our millions in giving Poland Upper Silesia. Now she is proceeding herself to absorb some millions and to get rid of others by letting part of the population starve."

The general charged France wants to grab Ruhr coal and industries to strengthen herself and weaken Germany.

"I am certain it is France's intention to maintain her grasp on the Ruhr as long as practicable, permanently, if possible."

Ludendorff accused the suggestion the French have run into a blind alley, but hinted there might be unpleasant surprises if German unity became complete.

"You can tell America and the world that the last war was not a question of German militarism, but of French militarism. We simply defended ourselves against French ambition, and sought longways and Bries, as points necessary to our protection," Ludendorff said.

"I am sorry the American troops have been withdrawn from the Rhine, although I feel it was meant as a protest against France. But it only helped and pleased them. They now have a more solid front, with nobody to hinder them. They are pouring troops thru the Coblenz area."

Ludendorff said he had informed

General Allen that this was how German nationalists viewed the situation.

Leaving the general in his peaceful hillside villa, correspondents on the special train for Munich and Mulheim reached the former city to find the hotbed of nationalism barely restraining its wrath against the French. The notorious nationalist Socialist leader, Hitler, pays nightly visits to cafes, urging Bavarians to rise in revolt against the Germans or to attack the French.

The Bavarian government is embarrassed by these activities, but believes it can avert a putsch.

WASHINGTON.—Hearings on the government's proposed plan to consolidate the railroads of the country into a limited number of systems will again be resumed here on February 26, the interstate commerce commission announced today.

Systems 18 and 19, the former containing the Frisco, Katy and Cotton Belt lines and the latter the Chicago and Eastern and the Missouri Pacific will be considered on that date.

WASHINGTON.—The call of President Harding to administration senators for a determined effort to put thru the subsidy bill before March 4, met defiant rebuke today.

The strong anti-subsidy group let it be known that, if any attempt is made to limit debate or force high sessions of the senate, it will only lead to a more spectacular outbreak against the administration program.

Senator Brookhart, Iowa, progressive, is willing to take most drastic action to prevent passage of the ship subsidy. He has threatened to utilize every force to combat the measure.

GOOD MANNERS

All appointments should be kept promptly. Of course, apologies are in order in the event of tardiness, but this ought to be avoided by all possible means. Having made an engagement, courtesy requires the assumption, for that occasion at any rate, that the other party's time is worth as much as one's own.

The Wisteria club will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. David Leitch, 520 W. Elm-st. Thursday afternoon.

B K K club, Delphos, met at the home of Miss Marie Rossell, 11 North-st., Monday evening. The forepart of the evening was spent in sewing and later a contest in which Miss Lucia Kehres was successful, was enjoyed by the members. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be in one week with Miss Elsie Schroeder, N. Washington-st.

J T club will meet with Mr. Frank Stegeman, at her home 1 Second-st., Delphos, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ray Tabler, E. Second-st., Delphos, will be hostess to the Siles-a-wee club Thursday afternoon.

Friday evening the Charity Wives club will be entertained by Mr. David Gudmoller at her home W. Bank-st., Delphos.

Delphos branch of the C. L. of C. will hold a card party in the St. Mary's hall Wednesday evening. This will be the last before Lent. Catholic Knights of Ohio, and Catholic Ladies of Columbia are invited.

A large time dance will be given by the 1362 club, Delphos, in the K. of C. rooms Tuesday evening. The Knights and their ladies and The Catholic Daughters of American are invited.

Catholic Ladies of America will give a benefit social in the C. K. of A. club rooms on N. Main-st., Delphos. The C. L. of A. and their friends are invited to be present.

Pastime Euchre club was entertained at the home of Mrs. John Obinger, W. Sixth-st., Delphos, Monday evening. Ten games of progressive euchre were played. Mrs. Amos Rathburn received first prize for the ladies and Mrs. William Gladen was consoling, while Amos Rathburn received first of the men and G. E. Miller was consoling. A delightful luncheon was served by the hostess at the card tables. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. G. E. Miller, E. Seventh-st., in two weeks.

Mrs. Gregory Hielt, E. Fifth-st., Delphos, will be hostess to the 1320 club at her home Tuesday evening.

1924 club will be entertained by Mrs. P. F. Duigan, N. Pierce-st., Delphos, Wednesday evening.

Eastern Sta. Sewing Circle Delphos will be entertained Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Martin Shenk and Mrs. Dane Ridenour, will be hostesses. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dane Ridenour, W. Second-st.

Dame Fashion is, indeed, a most whimsical person, for she receives the new as quickly as she discards the old. But, in seeking the new, she often reverts to the old. This spring, for her favorite frocks, she has borrowed the drape of the Hindu, the blouse inspired by the Russian, and the bodice from the Grecian dancers of 3,500 years ago--and created for these a new, lovely fabric--"flat crepe."

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

THREE years ago, when I was a widow, 36, I married a widower, 54. I have a son who is 14. My husband and I like each other, but we can't agree about his wages. He makes $110 a month. Our rent is $30 a month. I always worked, up to two months ago. With insurance and lodge dues to keep up, and an automobile, I felt compelled to work. Neither my son nor I have been any expense to him except for food. We have no furniture to pay for when we married, for my house was complete. It has not been necessary to buy so much as a couch. And I have kept out of debt so far. I have decided to quit work and let him support us. He spends nothing for car fare, as we live close to his work, yet he keeps out $10 a month for his own use. My first husband left me a bank account of $2000, and when we ate short I would ask him for money, but he would draw from that but I won't. Shall we part?—In Trouble.

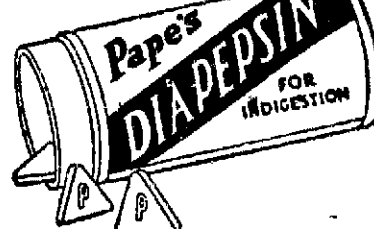

W H Y not part with the automobile? Instead of your husband's expense eliminated, doubtless the financial situation in your family would be greatly improved. Surely neither of you consider an automobile more important than your marriage and your home. It is right that your husband support you and your son if he can. But if he is not able to do so, or if your demands are unreasonable as compared with his income, then I see no reason why you should not continue to help support the home. You had had sufficient experience in house-keeping before you married him that you should have known whether or not you would be able to get along on his income.

You are wise in refusing to use any of your bank account except in case of extreme need. And perhaps your husband has only suggested this when he has been resentful at what he considered unfair demands on your part. Try to look at the matter from his viewpoint, too. Your letter suggests that you perhaps think it selfish and extravagant of him to keep $10 a month for his own use. Yet it is difficult to see how he could get along with less. I think, under the circumstances, he might be permitted to spend that amount unquestioned and in peace.

Don't think of a separation. There is no difference between you which cannot be adjusted by unselfishness and a few concessions.

VAL OF PARADISE

BY VINGIE E. ROE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN HANNON, wealthy ranch owner, his blind wife, EMMA, and their beautiful daughter, VAL, live happily together in Hannon's wonderful ranch house, Paradise. Redstar is the king of the Red Brood of horses owned by the master of the ranch. Val, on Redstar, rides to the New Grande and, while resting on its flat top, she sees a strange horseman on a mount amazingly like Redstar.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I have ridden a day and half a night to bring you this. I will cover the same ground in the next few hours to get back from whence I came. But the bringing gives me joy."

He lifted the old man's hand and placed therein a buckskin bag, heavy, and musical with the dull clink of gold.

"Take it," he said, "it is yours."

But Father Hillaire shuddered and his fingers slipped loose from the other's pressure, so that the bag fell back upon the table.

"I—can't," he said sadly, "it is tainted gold."

"True," said Volante, gaily. "I took it from a mine-owner who owns a thousand peons, soul and body, who drives them thru hunger and oppression down into the darkness of death with never a hope or a comfort. His soft voice had become suddenly hard and bitter."

Father Hillaire caught his own breath in a sigh.

"Oh, my son! I cannot vision such a thing! It cuts me to the heart! Give it up—give up this life. Start over—go away—into the north—somewhere and forget these rides, these desperate risks, this dashing against the law of God and man!"

With a quick spring Volante was on his feet. He swept the bag of gold into his hand and held it out.

"Will you take it?" he asked evenly, "to buy food for your poor, your aged, your sick and your little ones that swarm here in our blessed garden? Or shall I ride south again and squander it on the gaming tables of Cajon and Caramento, on the girls of the dance halls?"

He was steady, cool, ready to do what he promised. Slowly the old priest rose to face him in the dusk. He stretched out a hand.

"I will take it, my son," he said, "a doubtful means to a holy end," and he took the bag of gold and dropped it in the deep pocket of his cassock.

Volante smiled, that brilliant lighting of his lean face that shone like a star behind a curtain, and putting a hand on the other's shoulder shook it gently. Then he whirled and put his finger to his lips. The whistle startled the quiet garden, was enough to split the cardrums. Instantly from the distant side of the enclosure where the stables stood there came an answer, a wild, shrill, heavy scream, a piercing neigh of a stallion, and a huge dark bulk came trotting swiftly down the walks beneath the trees, its rein, jerked from the hands of Bonifacio, dancing at its feet.

The comet came to its master. Volante put his palm to the horse's lip, their secret sign of greeting.

"Goodbye, father," said Volante, gravely, "buenas noches, Vale!" he added gracefully, giving the farewell in three tongues.

Then he gripped the other's hand hard, caught the reins and leaped into the saddle without a foot to stirrup, though the great horse stood seventeen hands to his bare shoulder.

There was a sudden leap, a thump, and Redstar was gone.

der of hoofs on the hard-beaten earth, and they were gone, a wind and a bolt of speed, out through the gate which Bonifacio had opened.

For a long moment Father Hillaire stood in the dim light by the narrow door of the church and listened to the long-roll of their going, a lifting, exciting sound, and he shook his head and sighed and touched the gold in his pocket.

"I would that he came no more to this land of his destiny," he whispered miserably, "say, reckless, lovable—and lost to all eternity. What if I told him of that other horse—that only other out in all the earth to match The Comet, the wondrous red king of John Hannon's brood?"

CHAPTER V

"Why Don't You Run, Redstar?"

Night lay soft on Paradise. Tree toads talked at intervals and a cicada shrilled its endless tune, while out in one of the gay-fringed hammocks young Felicitia, slim and brown, listened with downcast eyes to the gentle voice of Arles Gomez, also slim and brown, pleading the ancient tale in the ancient way.

In the great room of the deep adobe house there were no candles lighted, for though Felicitia had come soft-footed to do that service, the master had waved her away. John Hannon sat in one of the big chairs with the cushions and smoked the short pipe that always rode in his inside pocket or between his lips, and listened in indifferent content to the gentle tale that came softly, from the ancient keys under Belle Hannon's fingers.

Stretched on a couch in the farthest corner, her slim length well-nigh compassing it from end to end, her sun-browned hands beneath her head, Val lay and listened, too, though her thoughts were not in the past but the future—they had to do with the coming dance at Hannon's store, and with the gay chuck or riders from the outlying ranches who would be there in all their gala attire.

It would be Fourth of July and every cow puncher who could straddle a cayuse would attend. There would be races, and as always the Red Brood would be there, too.

All that is, but Old Hotfoot, shut out of the excitement by constant motherhood—and Redstar the king. Lightning would run away from all and sundry as he had done for two years now, and Dawnlight, if the master would put her up, would make a speedy showing, and this year, for the first time, the young matched racer, Birchbrand and The Flame, would have their chance. Redcloud was getting a trifle old and she had overheard some talk between the boss and Tom Briston concerning his withholding.

Poor Redcloud—wild and strong and keen as the wind in spring!

She stood his screaming in his stockade, pounding the earth with his shining hoofs, when the rest went off to town—for the first time without him!

She frowned in the dusk with a quick sorrow for the old racer's passing.

Redstar now—Redstar the great king—he would graze placidly in the green field and take no note of the Red Brood's arrogance and pride as they trotted away, each with a rider in attendance.

He would not so much as raise his splendid head, blink his soft eyes. And yet of them all he was the king—faster than their fastest, stronger than their best.

"Dad," Val said presently, when there came a lull in the tinkling music while Belle Hannon hummed an elusive melody the better to bring it to her fingertips, "Dad—why have you never run Redstar in the races?"

"Eh?"

The rancher took the pipe from his lips suddenly and sat up in his chair. His handsome dark eyes, so like Val's own in one or two expressions, narrowed in the darkness.

"Why do you ask me that?"

At the tone of his voice any one on the ranch, save and except these two women, would have ceased to breathe the conversation.

"Why, I don't know," his daughter answered calmly, "except that, keen as you are on horseflesh and racing, you've never let him run. And you know, and I know, that he can beat anything under God's heaven that ever ran on these plains."

John Hannon put the pipe back between his lips.

"Perhaps," he said, "that's just the reason. He's too good."

The girl studied a moment. "That's so. There's nothing to run with him—not in a mile—nor a thousand miles! And he'd dwarf the Red Brood down to nothing. Yes—I see."

She lay silent, thinking, while the elusive melody, caught in Belle Hannon's pale fingers, came, tinkling forth in the twilight.

At the end of an hour of perfect quiet, save for the old piano's voice, when her mother swung around on the ancient bench and the master rose to take the outstretched hand that had held him fast for so, these many years, Val stretched her healthy young body and yawned, also.

"Dad," she said again, "did you ever see a horse that looked like Redstar in every line and motion?"

John Hannon stopped in his tracks, stockstill.

"No," he said at last sharply. "Why?"

"Because I did—from the top of Mesa Grande—the other day—a horse that led a bunch of riders from up Leandra way—a horse that was a dead ringer for the Redstar, or I'm a liar. Color, size, speed, action—it might have been the king himself. If I had not sat upon him myself that very minute I'd have said it was the king."

The rancher wet his lips, but he straightened up and, taking his wife's hand, led her out from behind the bench, his arm about her frail shoulders.

"You're seeing things, Val," he said with a careless laugh. "There's no boss in this country that looks like the Redstar. The height of the mesa—the distance—they distorted your sight. No—there ain't no match for him this side of—"

"Where?" asked Val as her father paused.

"Hell," he said succinctly and led his wife away.

It to his women John Hannon was good and brave and tender.

SELECTING OPPONENT FOR DEMPSEY IS DIFFICULT JOB

(BY BILLY EVANS)

Who will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent?

Will Harry Wills, admittedly the best of the colored fighters, get the first crack at the champion?

What about Floyd Johnson? Did his win over the veteran Bill Brennan place him in line for consideration?

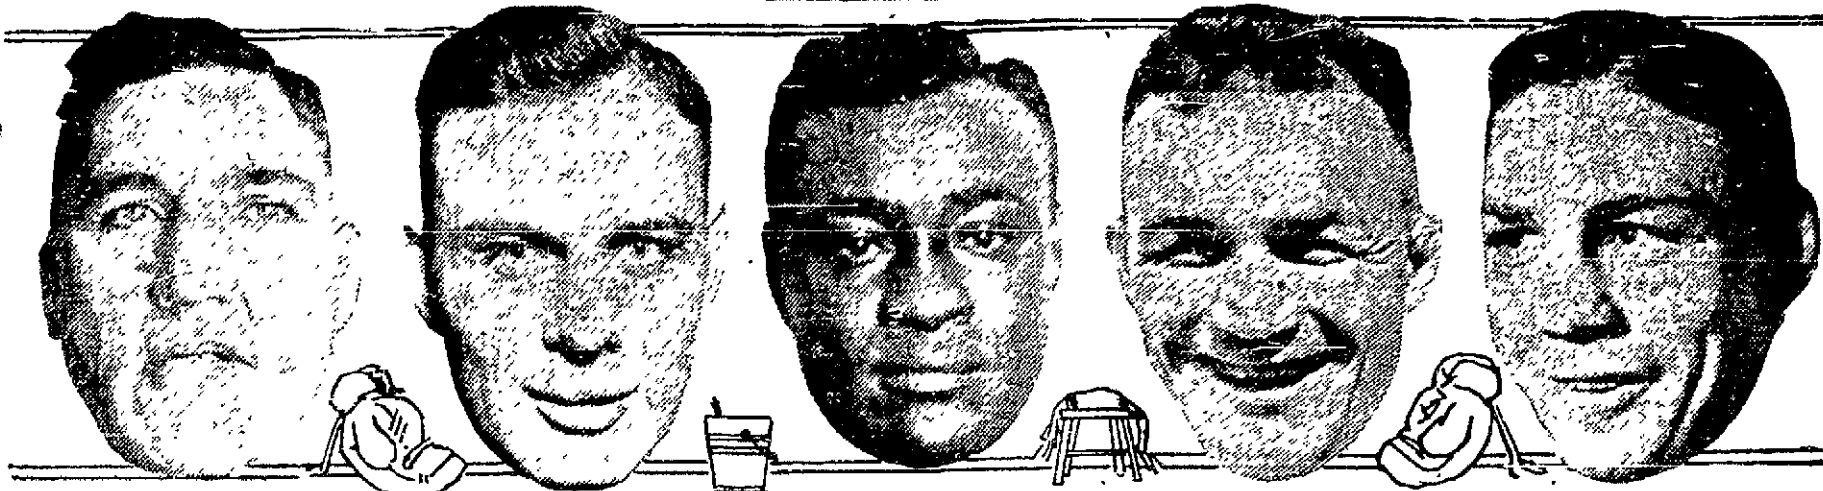

Should any attention be paid to the demand on the part of Jesse Willard for a return bout? Dempsey won the championship from Willard, and usually a defeated fighter always receives consideration when seeking a return engagement.

Then there is Tommy Gibbons. What about Sir Thomas?

A year ago Gibbons was considered a certainty for a Dempsey meeting. Then came the upset by Harry Greb, which cost Gibbons at least $100,000. He could have easily demanded and received such a sum had it not been for his setback at the hands of Greb.

GREG BOUT COSTLY

Despite his defeat on points in the Greb bout, Gibbons certainly looks up as worthy of a chance. Dempsey

Harry Greb is the most difficult fighter in the world to lathom. He will outpoint most any fighter in the business who fails to land a sleep-producing punch.

Prior to the bout with Gibbons I had a talk with Harry before he stepped into the ring. I asked him how he felt about the outcome.

"Nothing to it unless Gibbons slips one over and stops me. He will see a million or more boxing gloves if the bout goes the limit."

That is just what happened. Greb never let Gibbons get a million gloves and won as he pleased.

If Greb fought Dempsey and Jack was unable to knock him out, it is just possible that Dempsey would look as bad in defeat as did Gibbons. All of which makes it seem that some of the ring experts feel that physically Gibbons is not a big importance to Gibbons' defeat by Greb.

When the mention of a bout between Gibbons and Dempsey is made, the question of size is always raised. Some of the ring experts feel that physically Gibbons is not a big enough man to have a chance with Dempsey. Only recently the New York Boxing Commission vetoed a Dempsey-Gibbons bout for that reason.

Such talk is ridiculous. Working along that line of reasoning it was cruelty to let Dempsey step into the ring with Willard. Jesse lowered over Dempsey in every way. There is no such difference between the physique of Dempsey and Gibbons.

FITZ FEARED NO ONE

"The bigger they are, the harder they fall." The late Bob Fitzsimmons coined that expression. Many a time he proved the truth of it.

Dempsey, in his bout with Willard bore out the wisdom of lanky Bob's now famous speech.

"The bigger they are, the harder they fall."

Gibbons is entitled to consideration, as are a number of other heavyweights who are clamoring for a chance.

While Floyd Johnson didn't stop Bill Brennan, his glory over the trail horse of the heavyweight division makes him a promising possibility.

HIGH PRAISE FOR HORNSBY

ST. LOUIS — Baseball fans and writers overlook the fielding ability of Rogers Hornsby, if you will take the word of Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals.

"Because Hornsby is such a wonderful hitter, the fans fail to appreciate his remarkable fielding ability," says Rickey.

"Of course, I know many of the experts won't agree with me, but I consider Hornsby one of the greatest fielding second basemen of all time.

"I have watched Lajoie, Collins, Evers, Rutchey and other greats in action, but I will take Hornsby for mine.

"All things considered, Hornsby is the greatest—the most valuable second baseman in the history of the game."

CENTRAL AND SOUTH WORKING HARD

With three days in which to perfect new plays and rehearse old ones South and Central basketball men settled down to the hardest training of the season yesterday in preparation for the first game of the season.

The coming battle which will determine in a large part the championship of Lima is causing more comment than any basketball game this year.

Members of the Central squad feel two incentives spurring them on. One is the desire to even up the football loss at the hands of the Southeners while the other is the desire to make the city title clearly in their favor.

They won the first lap of it when the St. Rose team fell before them in the earlier part of this month.

At South the Tigers are devoting their time to teamwork and more accurate passing. The scholastic side of a rather huge chunk from their squad and with several new men in the lineup the passwork will have to be practically rebuilt.

Light practice was indulged in at the Central gym last night. Coach Thibault worked his men rather easily, giving them a chance for a little rest after the Findlay game.

After running thru a few plays and practicing on the ring the first team called it "dinks."

Starting tonight the team will get basketball drilled into them as fast as it can be absorbed. Extra hours will be resorted to in order that the team may be in the best of shape for the big battle. A heavy scrimmage will be the bill for tonight.

At South the team was given a stiff practice mainly to remedy the faults apparent in the Bluffton game. Coach Burdette wants to take no chances in having them repeated Friday night. Stiff practice and lots of it is also on the schedule for the next three nights.

With the biggest game of the season scheduled for Friday night, St. Rose will take extra pains to get into the best possible shape. The Dayton win has left a good taste in the mouth of the Southeners and they are anxious to keep off the win with a victory over the highly touted Hamilton five.

Coach Baker will drill new plays into the team this week in the hopes that they will be able to break the famed Hamilton defense. Dayton U. lost by a three point margin to the Hamilton team two weeks ago and the fact that they could defeat Dayton almost as bad will make the Northenders work all the harder.

St. Johns will try and prove that the Wauveon game is to be forgotten when they meet the Colla team tomorrow night. Altho Wauveon is one of the best teams in the state, St. Johns feels as if they must take their revenge out on the Colla tossers.

SISLER MAKES GOOD RECORD

CHICAGO—George Sisler last year broke two records held by Ty Cobb.

In addition, Sisler led the American League in batting, and was voted the most valuable player in the American League.

All of which makes the year 1922 stand out as the big season in the career of the Browns' star.

Sisler hit safely in 41 consecutive games. That feat shattered Cobb's record of 40 straight hits in 1911.

In 1911 Cobb batted .420, according to the averages. To be exact, his mark for the season was .4198. Last year Sisler swatted .4197, giving Sisler the shade by the fraction of a point.

In making his 1922 average, Sisler had only 17 hitless games. In 53 games he made one hit, in 35 he had two, in 25 he had three, while in 12 games he made four hits. Some swatting!

The Cleveland pitchers were easiest for Sisler. Against the Indians, Sisler had a batting average of .495.

RASMUSSEN LEADS IN TOURNEY

F. Rasmussen took first in the first headpin tournament staged this season at the K. O. C. alleys. His score of 307 was two pins higher than Mac McClane, who took second. Joe Goodrick captured third position by rolling 305.

The second headpin tournament will be rolled this week, and it is planned to run a tournament every week. The rules have been changed so that no limit is placed on number of times one bowler enters the tourney.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

The inexperience of the major league recruit crops out in many unusual ways, until he finally acquires the polish that fits him to be classed as a regular.

Making the grade in the big show is far from an easy proposition. The major leagues contain the very cream of the baseball talent. Every player is matching his wits against the opposition.

The inexperience of a White Sox rookie last summer saved Ed Walsh and myself considerable trouble. As a matter of fact, the act of the recruit proved a life saver for the umpires.

Cleveland was playing Chicago. If my memory serves me correctly, the bases were filled, two out and the score a tie. Edwards, a recruit southpaw, was doing the pitching for Cleveland.

It had been a wild contest, both managers using several pitchers and sending in many pinch hitters. In the ninth inning, with the bases filled, Manager Gleason of the Sox desired to use a pinch hitter, but the only player available was a scout catcher by the name of Graham.

Ed Walsh, former White Sox pitcher, was unimpaired back of the plate. Gleason finally decided to take a chance on the recruit, Graham, and sent him up to bat.

The very first ball that Edwards pitched to Graham struck about a foot in front of the plate, and evading the frantic efforts of Catcher Steve O'Neill to break it down, the ball rolled to the grandstand. It sure was some wild pitch!

From my position back of the pitcher, I decided the game was over as the runner from third crossed the plate. Walsh, unimpaired ball and strikes, also felt the same way, as he started to walk off the field the moment the run was scored. Then I saw Steve O'Neill grab him, and in a minute Walsh was surrounded by the entire Cleveland team, claiming the ball hit the batter. Such a claim is usually made in the pinch with the winning run going over.

BREAM TO BATTLE

So well pleased were fight fans over the last card, which included a double windup; that Matchmakers Charles Maxwell and L. A. Gieger, of the Lima Gym club, announced Tuesday morning that the next show to be held during the week of February 13, will include two finals.

The two main battles have not been completely arranged, altho it was decided Monday night that Babe Broom and Don Boxer, both Lima battlers, will be given opportunities to caper before Memorial Hall crowds.

Happy McHenry, of Montpelier, O. is being considered as an opponent for Baxter, while Bream is anxious to mix gloves with Willie Ames.

Bream agreed to make 133 pounds at 3 p. m., with no stipulation as to the man, who he fights. Baxter will make 118 pounds at 3 p. m., with no understanding as to who he will fight.

CLAIMS CAGE TITLE

NEW YORK — These are the days of basketball records.

In the west the Vincennes, Ind., team has been attracting much attention in interscholastic circles.

During the last three years the Vincennes team has not been beaten on its home floor and has lost only one game in the last 56 played.

Down east the Passaic, N. J., high school five is the big noise. The Passaic team seems to outclass the high school fives in its section, as it has won 100 straight games.

Intersectional games in football created keen interest in the gridiron sport last year. A number of games were staged, not only by the colleges but the preparatory schools as well.

Why not an intersectional game between Vincennes and Passaic? It would seem from the records of the two clubs that they are entitled to represent the west and east.

Coach Blood of the Passaic team is ready to talk business with any high school team that disputes the right of Passaic to be called the national champs of their class.

K of C Bowlers Still Leading

The local Knights of Columbus pin topplers are still in the lead in the national bowling tournament in Toledo, and as some of the best teams entered have not equaled the 2727 made Saturday by Lima K. of C. Team No. 1.

In the double events, Tom Dayer and McFarland are guarding the top of the heap with a score of 1162.

SPEAKER AT ZANESVILLE

F. A. Barkhardt, former mayor of Lima, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Zanesville Rotary club Tuesday.

FIGHT RESULTS

PITTSBURGH—Abe Goldstein, New York bantamweight, won in 10 rounds over Mike Moran, Pittsburgh.

BALTIMORE—George Chaney, Baltimore, knocked out Frankie Rice, Baltimore, in the first round of a 12 round bout.

PHILADELPHIA—Lew Tendler, lightweight champion contender, knocked out Jack Lawler, Omaha, in fifth round of scheduled eight round bout.

SOUTHWORTH IS IN KENTON

KENTON, O.—Bill Southworth, captain and center fielder of the Boston Nationals has gone "coon hunting." The big leader arrived here last night for a week's stay and will be the guest of Mike Claybaugh, a former team mate in sandlot baseball when the two were playing on a Kenton professional team a number of years ago. Southworth comes annually from his winter home in Columbus for the "coon bunting trip." The former Pirate played his first ball, while residing here with his mother and soon after leaving for the minors got his whirl into the major pool where he has since been playing. Last fall he played in a number of exhibition games in Lima, along with other major league stars.

AUTO SUGGESTION APPEALS TO THE EAR, NOT EYE

NEATH an Egyptian moon love had whispered, according to the subtitle, and so Lord Wallington came on from Cairo to be present when the announcement of his engagement to Ruth Rutherford was made.

He gave Ruth two spirited Arabian horses and one of them was so devilish that it was named Untamable. It is difficult to say why he gave her the horse—he didn't want her to ride it. But she did. And she took a nasty spill.

No white doctor could help Ruth and she was a wheel-chair invalid until Dr. Ali took over the case. He made her well by autosuggestion, an Egyptian form of Cerebral as-trology.

Now Dr. Ali happened to be an enemy of Lord Wallington and he had struck a nefarious bargain with Ruth. When she had regained her health she reneged on the payment, but Ali was bent on collecting when an Egyptian valet stuck a knife in his back. As Ali died he ordered Ruth back into her chair and put the curse of Allah (whatever that is) on her.

Lord Wallington had returned to Egypt and was moping up a lot of hard liquor, as the boys say, to forget his worry about Ruth. When Ruth heard of this she went all the way to Egypt in her wheel chair and Wallington braced himself up as they say.

The valet sneaked up on Wallington with a knife in his hand and Ruth jumped out of her chair to stop him. Then the servant said he wasn't going to stab Wallington, anyway. He just wanted to get Ruth out of the chair and thus show her that her trouble was only mental.

The above is the story of "Dary Secrets," Dorothy Dalton's latest.

Lon Chaney Says Making Faces Is Art—But No Fun

INSTEAD of painting on canvases, Lon Chaney makes portraits on his face. His greatest achievement in make-up will be seen in this city, when the Sol Lesser production of "Oliver Twist" starring Jackie Coogan, the favorite child of the screen, comes to the Sigma theater.

And every day the portrait thus painted on a face, not at all like Pagan's must be identical in every line and shadow with the portrait that was painted the day before and the week, even the month before, for it took months to make this massive production, and Lon Chaney's work proceeds thru its entire length.

The role of the "merry old gentleman" who taught boys the art of picking pockets, challenged the skill of Lon Chaney, who required two hours to lay on the color that would transform a good looking gentleman into the semblance of one of the vilest characters in all fiction.

Thus, if the company were called by Duke Frank Lloyd at 8 o'clock in the morning, Chaney had to be at the studio on location at 6 o'clock and, since many nights were consumed in work on the set, it will be seen that Chaney did not live any butterfly life in Hollywood during the long weeks devoted, he says, to the greatest characterization he was ever called upon to accomplish.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2. and get the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Column of Anecdotes About Home Folks

What is the funniest experience that ever happened to you? Write it out briefly and send it to the Short Shavings Editor of The Lima News. For the best continued short shavings published in the week The News will pay $1. Full names and address must be signed.

Marjorie G. Castle, 308 N. Tenth-st., tells of a girl friend whose name she says is Beatrice.

Beatrice asked permission of her mother to call on a girl across the street. Betty, her seven-year-old sister, immediately sought for the same privilege, which angered Beatrice and she said, "My, but you love to ape your elders!"

"Oh, mother!" exclaimed Betty. "I am not an ape, am I?"

"He who laughs last, laughs best," sometimes is realized.

Ashley R. L. T. Harris, 215 E. Flanders-av., tells of a case in point.

"A man was running to catch a street car. It was a windy day and his hat blew off. It rolled under a passing coal wagon and then under a rapidly moving auto. Pedestrians who witnessed the incident snickered. But the hat was recovered positively undamaged."

Louis Custerbender, 325 McPherson-av., reports a little girl who was playing on a porch at the family home, when she heard some chickens cackling.

She listened for a few moments and then asked, "Is that chicken pox?"

James Johnson, 465 W. McKibben-st., reports a man who got up one morning cross and out of humor, slammed chairs about and kicked everything he could reach.

After he had departed for his work, closing the door with a bang, his little son said: "Mother, didn't we make an awful mistake when we married papa?"

Earl Keith, 724 E. North-st., reports that a friend told him of another man who had a hole in the knee of his trousers. One night his wife said she would patch the hole in the trousers after he had retired.

She made good her word, but when her husband donned the trousers the next morning, he found there was something wrong. His wife had cut a piece of goods off the other leg of the trousers, for a patch.

A friend relates that when Bob Neff, machine operator at the Signa theater, was a little boy, he was warned by his mother never to enter the pool saloon, as it was not a proper place.

One Sunday he returned from church and told his mother she must be wrong, as the minister had preached a sermon on "Christ at the Pool of Siloam."

D. M. Williams, 313 McKibben-st., relates that his father was manager of a large warehouse owned by the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, at Birmingham, Alabama, and that a number of negroes were employed about the place.

One day one of them went into the office and, taking off his hat, said, "Boss, let me have half a dollar."

The boss was busy writing and did not answer for a few seconds. Then he asked, "What is it?"

The negro said, "Boss, let me have two dollars."

He was given a half dollar. "I heard you the first time," the manager said.

"I was visiting a girl friend in the country last summer," Ethel C. Lotzoff, 1023 Purot-av., writes.

"Her home is near the city limits. They had been missing chickens for several nights and inquiry was made among the neighbors, to ascertain if suspicious characters had been seen."

"Down the road a short distance lived an old colored man. We inquired of him as to the variety of another man of color farther down the road."

"I don't know nuffin 'bout the man, Miss Mary, was his reply. But, he added, 'If I was a chicken I sure would roost on de highest tree when he were hangin' around.'"

Mrs. Ida A. Justice, 216 N. Elizabeth-st., tells of a woman whose son had gone west. She watched daily for a letter, but the postman never stopped at her door.

One day a neighbor saw the mail carrier deliver a letter at the house. Anxious to know all about it, she ran into the neighbor's house and said, "Mrs. Brown, I saw the postman stop and deliver you a letter. How is your son?"

"Law, I don't know," Mrs. Brown replied. "I never opened it. It says 'Return in Five Days,' and the five will be up by the time it is returned."

Miller & Hart
Chicago

Lima is in an inflammatory stage of prosperity so says Dr. Frederick Blankner the Chicago Specialist.

DR. FREDERICK BLANKNER

In a real, honest, right from the shoulder, conscientious heart to heart talk, he has extended his visit until Tues., Feb. 6th. Every sick person is desirous of receiving intelligent and efficient service, which if they receive it, spells health, happiness and joy. If afflicted in anyway and wish a return of normal physical activity, would you not be exercising the part of wisdom to make this Little Journey and improve this opportunity while it is all yours, until Tues., Feb. 6th.

A large number of people in this community are suffering with diseased and ulcerated teeth who can absolutely enjoy having them extracted without pain, the Blankner way, where they can sit down in an easy go as you please rocking chair and have one diseased tooth after the other extracted so easily, gracefully, scientifically and painlessly that you simply have to smile and say God Bless the Doctor.

No chloroform, ether, gas, somniform, cocaine or novocain used. No bad results, no danger of taking cold and no place on earth where you can obtain better service and more satisfactory results. To the wise no more need be said. Lima House, Parlor B, until Tues., Feb. 6th. Office hours, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sunday by appointment. Phone service. Ask the clerk and he will direct you to Parlor B.

Six hundred new homes are being planned. Locomotive Works booked up for months with orders and merchants and all other industries putting shoulder to the wheel, a got together pull spirit of inspiration which portends for a bigger, a better and grander Lima to live in. Human motive power is in action and if everyone will give a boost, the goal of a hundred thousand population inevitably will develop.

One great factor necessary to push this enterprise is health and many a good booster is being deterred because of physical incompetency of some chronic complicated disease of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, heart, lungs and nerves, all of which can be absolutely brought into the realm of normal physiological activity. For the past thirty-five years Dr. Frederick Blankner has specialized in making sick people well and owing to the request of many who wish to make a Little Journey to Parlor B, Lima House, to meet him

Unsanitary Cistern Is No Longer Needed

The unsanitary cistern for a soft water supply is no longer needed.

With it go the roof dirt, and all the other accumulations, which make it unclean and unwholesome.

Every home can now enjoy clean, clear 100 per cent soft water from every faucet—better to drink and cook with; better for every household use.

This great advance in living standards and household economy is made possible by the Wayne Rapid-Rate System of Water Softening.

With the inexpensive, convenient and absolutely reliable Wayne System installed in the home, there is always an abundance of soft water.

It flows through the house pipes at regular city pressure, independent of the weather or other conditions.

Water softened by the Wayne System is absolutely soft—softer even, than rain water from the roof.

And it is healthful to the last degree—something never true of cistern water.

A telephone call will bring a representative who will courteously explain the Wayne System and how it may be installed in your home
